Hoover Plan To End Depression Meets With Approval

BILLIONS OF DOLLARS TO BE RELEASED

Pool of $500,000,000 Will Be Raised to Release Frozen Bank Assets
TWO MEETINGS TODAY
President to Confer With Real Estate Men and Bankers Later in Day

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—(UP)—Action to release millions of dollars in frozen bank assets was initiated by President Hoover at a spectacular conference with congressional leaders of both parties at the White House last night. The purpose is to get this money back into circulation, revive confidence and set the wheels of prosperity spinning again.

This part of his program was agreed to in principle. Mr. Hoover also announced he intended to move for an extension of the German moratorium when French Premier Laval comes here later in the month. Vigorous and plain spoken opposition by both Republicans and Democrats was aroused by this proposal. Mr. Hoover did not indicate, however, that he would abandon this intention.

Mr. Hoover's financial program was designed to meet the threatened banking crisis, drive away "foolish alarms," and stop hoarding. It provided:

1. Formation of a banker's corporation with at least $500,000,000 to rediscunt banking assets not now eligible at Federal Reserve banks. Many bankers have assented to this. The New York clearing house association already has pledged $150,000,000. Secretary of Treasury Mellon said the remainder would be raised without difficulty.
2. Appointment of bankers committees by Federal Reserve banks to make advances on assets of closed banks to release locked deposits.
3. Action by Congress to broaden the Federal Reserve Act to give greater liquidity to the assets of Federal Reserve banks.
4. If necessary, Mr. Hoover will recommend creation of a finance corporation like the war finance corporation with funds sufficient for any legitimate credit demands.
5. Advance of additional government capital to federal land banks to provide greater credit for farmers.

Second Conference
President Hoover will confer with real estate men at 2 p. m. today to consider the pressing mortgage situation. The first two of the foregoing proposals would not require legislation. They are expected to be made effective quickly.

BRUENING CABINET RESIGNS; REICHSTAG TO MEET OCT. 13

CAPONE'S JURY IS CHALLENGED BY DEFENDANT

Judge Orders Trial to Continue After Conference By Counsel

FEDERAL BUILDING, CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—(UP)—Alphonse Capone's attorney today challenged the jury chosen to try the gang chief on income tax fraud charges. They demanded an investigation of the jurors as court opened today.

Attorney Albert Fink declared "one juror was not quite frank in his statements yesterday if what Attorney Ahern learned overnight is true."

The jury was excused. Counsel for both sides went to chambers to confer.

Judge Wilkerson, however, after the conference ordered the trial to proceed. The 12 men sitting today in Capone's trial on income tax fraud charges in United States District court were sworn in by Judge James H. Wilkerson shortly after 4 p. m. yesterday. It took just four hours of the opening day's sessions to complete the jury.

It was the sort of jury the government prosecutors had sought, the sort defense attorneys had fought against.

The 12 men true to a type that reflects the way of thinking of the towns and the countryside, judging from their answers to questions. All are more than 45 years old. All, with one exception are from suburban towns, villages or farms.

The panel includes a farmer, two retired merchants, a country store proprietor, two painter-decorators, a real estate dealer, an insurance salesman, a clerk, a lubricating engineer, an abstractor and a wood pattern maker out of work.

The government seeks to prove Capone evaded paying $215,000 on income of $1,038,654 between 1924 and 1929. Conviction could entail 32 years in prison and $30,000 fine.

SOCIETY BELLE OF 60S GIVES UP CASH

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—(UP)—Mrs. Ida E. Wood, a society belle when Abraham Lincoln was president, mourns a 20th century business efficiency which has forced her to surrender the $400,000 in old bills she had been hoarding in her hotel room against a "rainy day."

Mrs. Wood is 92. When the late King Edward VII visited this country as the Prince of Wales, she danced with him and her fragile beauty made her a favorite in the drawing rooms of the 60s and 70s.

Now her relatives have obtained a court order by virtue of which she was compelled to take the money—wrapped up in a brown paper parcel—from its hiding place and hand it to Edward T. Corcoran, special guardian.

FAMOUS CHARACTER OF NEVADA PASSES

TONOPAH, Nev., Oct. 7.—(UP)—Southern Nevada had lost one of its most famous characters today with the death of John Nava, 56, roping champion of this region, in an accident at Pine Creek ranch near here. Nava was thrown from a wagon and suffered a broken neck. He was born on a ranch that occupied the present site of Hollywood. He was involved in litigation over it for many years.

Register Will Publish New Serial Story

The latest mystery-detective story from the pen of Nancy Barr Mavity—"The Case of the Missing Sandals"—a puzzling yarn of a strange murder and its solution, will start as a serial in The Register next Saturday. It concerns the murder of a strange and glamorous woman, founder of a witchcraft cult, and how it was solved by Peter Piper, alert reporter who is well known to readers of Miss Mavity's stories.

Other interesting stories by the author of this interestingly compelling tale of a mysterious murder and its final solution are "Mystery of the Night," "The Tule Marsh Murder" and "The Other Bullet."

You will want to read every chapter of this story. Start it in The Register Saturday.

LINDBERGH TO SAIL FOR HOME ON THURSDAY

Will Terminate Vacation and Return to United States at Once

SHANGHAI, Oct. 7.—(UP)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh will start for the United States Thursday by steamer, U. S. Consul General Edwin S. Cunningham announced today.

The announcement said the Lindberghs "will sail at 9 a. m. Thursday aboard the Shanghai Maru, transferring at 10 a. m. Saturday to the S. S. President Jefferson which sails for Seattle from Yokohama."

The Lindberghs are returning home because of the death of Mrs. Lindbergh's father, Senator Dwight W. Morrow.

The famous flier and his wife, who were thrown into the Yangtze river recently at Hankow when their airplane capsized while taking off on a flight over flooded areas, remained secluded at Cunningham.

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

EL PASO, Oct. 7.—[To the Editor of The Register:] Coming in from the Hearst ranch on one of America's most unique railroads (Mexico Northwestern), been pillaged and robbed by bandits for eighteen years, yet the same people have stayed with it through all this and could teach many of our concerns a lesson in loyalty! It seems a queer coincidence that I should this morning be told by a Mexican peon away down in the wildest part about the death of Dwight Morrow, whom I had met in Mexico and had come to think more of than any man in public life I ever met. That's all they are talking about all up the line today. They all say "amigo de Mexico," friend of Mexico. Yes, and a friend of humanity, too. What a loss!

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

THOMAS EDISON SINKING FAST. DR. HOWE SAYS

Famous Inventor Can Live But Few Days More According to Doctor

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Oct. 7.—(UP)—Thomas A. Edison is growing steadily weaker, according to Dr. Hubert S. Howe, physician, and his condition indicates he will not be able to live more than a few days.

The 84-year-old inventor gradually is sinking into "lethargy," Howe said, but he rallied sufficiently last night to recognize his old friend, Harvey Firestone, tire manufacturer, with whom he and Henry Ford used to take summer vacation trips.

Firestone visited the Edison estate at Llewellyn Park yesterday afternoon, but Edison was asleep. Last night a dramatic meeting took place between the two life-long friends.

"I got down on my knees so he could see my face clearly and he recognized me and smiled," Firestone said. "He is a very sick man. We did not talk."

"I presented him with a book gotten out at the 50th anniversary of the Columbian high school of Columbia. I wrote in this book a dedication: 'To my friend, Edison, who gave me the richest education in the best things in life.'"

Edison is taking only half the nourishment necessary to prevent the spread of uric acid poisoning and resists efforts to induce him to drink water, regarded by the physician as a highly essential part of his diet.

NEGROES KILLED IN CLEVELAND RIOTING

CLEVELAND, Oct. 7.—(UP)—Police riot squads patrolled the heart of Cleveland's "black belt" today, armed with tear gas to prevent a renewal of the communist outbreak which last night resulted in the deaths of two negroes and wounding of two police officers and two other negroes.

Tumors that unemployed negroes, led by communists, were reorganizing for another uprising led Police Chief George J. Matowitz to concentrate his men in the "roaring third" precinct.

For the second time in twenty-four hours, fighting between police and unemployed broke out last night. The riot and gun battle started, witnesses said, when the members of a police radio squad car were attacked by 300 men and women, assembled to protest the eviction of a negro family.

MOYLE AND ALLEN IN LOS ANGELES

TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 7.—(UP)—A 30-day term in the Los Angeles county jail was faced by Don Moyle today at the end of his unsuccessful attempt to escape with Cecil Allen, to span the Pacific ocean.

Arriving here last evening after an uneventful flight from Whitehorse, Alaska, Moyle and Allen said they will give congratulations to Clyde Fangborn and Hugh Herndon, Jr., for completing the first non-stop crossing between Japan and the United States.

Moyle and Allen left Japan more than a month ago and were forced down on a north Pacific island by storms. They had been given up for lost when a Russian steamer reported it had found the fliers and given them fuel to continue.

Chancellor To Organize New Cabinet

Dictatorial Powers Given to Government in An Emergency Decree

BERLIN, Oct. 7.—(UP)—The cabinet of Chancellor Heinrich Brüning resigned today. A rigid dictatorial regime was established and basic constitutional rights in Germany were suspended. President Paul von Hindenburg accepted the cabinet's resignation and commissioned Chancellor Heinrich Brüning to form a new ministry.

The cabinet resignation had been expected in order to give Brüning a free hand in reorganizing his administration before the Reichstag meets Oct. 13.

Dictatorial powers were given the government in an emergency decree issued today by the 84-year old president. Among the basic constitutional rights suspended were inviolability and personal freedom of the home, rights of expression of thoughts through the press and letters, rights of coalition and assembly, and constitutional guarantees of personal property.

The resignation of Foreign Minister Julius Curtius yesterday was the first step in Brüning's plans to strengthen his government to face difficult situation during a winter expected to be the hardest in years.

The suspension of basic constitutional rights was made valid for the duration of the emergency decree and the extent of enforcement was left to the discretion of the government. The decree was over 100 pages in length and divided into eight parts.

VIGILANTES BAND TO DEFY TERRORIST

CLOVIS, Calif., Oct. 7.—(UP)—A committee of vigilantes today was organizing to end the terrorist career of the "phantom" motorists who the last six weeks almost nightly have crowded drivers to the roadside, apparently with intention to rob.

Last night the mysterious assaults slipped through a cordon of deputy sheriffs and volunteer officers and attacked Mr. and Mrs. John Marchetti and friends, but the Marchetti group escaped when another car came by.

Marchetti described the assaults as "a large man and a small man." He said the larger of the terrorists wore a dagger at his belt.

Marchetti was forced off the road south of here. He jumped out of his car in anger and went to meet the other motorists when he saw the knife. He fled to his car again and made his escape with his party when the third car approached.

PRINCE OF WALES MAY VISIT IN U. S.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—(UP)—A visit by the Prince of Wales to the United States next year was considered likely today after an announcement that the British empire-American games will be held here following the 1932 Olympics in Los Angeles.

William Coffman, district A. A. U. commissioner, said that for 29 years it has been customary for the prince to present trophies to winners of the games, and that it was expected Edward of Wales will continue the tradition.

The games will bring together American and British winners of Olympic events.

U. S. SENATOR LAID TO REST IN NEW JERSEY

Simplicity Marks Services for Dwight Morrow as Thousands Attend

ENGLEWOOD, N. J., Oct. 7.—(UP)—Persons from every walk of life, from the men in the street to the men in the White House, joined today in the final tribute to one of the nation's most distinguished sons, Senator Dwight Whitney Morrow.

An ex-president, a vice president, senators and representatives, as well as citizens of Englewood who knew Morrow as he wanted to be known, "a good neighbor," attended the last rites for a man whose death is mourned by all nations.

Funeral services were held in the First Presbyterian church where the late New Jersey senator worshipped for 28 years. In accordance to the wishes of the family, pomp and ceremony were eliminated from the last rites.

There were no honorary pallbearers, no lying in state, no formal eulogy. Morrow was taken from his home here where he died suddenly Monday to the church shortly before the hour of services.

Burial will be private "at the discretion of the family" in Brookside cemetery, Englewood.

DETROIT DOLE GETS VOTERS' APPROVAL

DETROIT, Oct. 7.—(UP)—Voters of the nation's fourth city today had stamped their approval on Detroit's much criticized dole system, by polling an avalanche of votes for the renomination of Mayor Frank Murphy, exponent of the principle that "a government is responsible for the welfare of its poor."

Murphy, who drained the city treasury to spend nearly $18,000,000 on unemployment relief, was nominated overwhelmingly, together with Harold H. Emmons, popular ex-commissioner of police. The red-headed mayor, under fire by two of the city's most powerful newspapers, led Emmons by a vote of three to one.

With 771 of the city's 895 precincts tabulated early today, Murphy had received 101,955 votes and Emmons 31,475. Howard A. Starrett, strongest of the defeated candidates for the nomination, polled 18,436.

TWO GANGSTERS IN TOLEDO ARE KILLED

TOLEDO, O., Oct. 7.—(UP)—Two Toledo gangsters were killed and a third was wounded today in what police termed an attempt of rival gunmen to "muscle in" on liquor and gambling rackets.

Albe Lubitsky, 23, and Norman Blatt, 26, were shot to death by the occupants of two automobiles which swept past their car. Harry Abrams, who was accompanying Lubitsky and Blatt, was wounded. Physicians said he would recover. Police believe the slayers were "out-of-town" gangsters.

FRESNO OFFICIALS OPPOSED TO TAX

FRESNO, Oct. 7.—(UP)—Fresno's five supervisors today were on record as unanimously opposed to the proposed 1-cent additional state gasoline tax to provide unemployment relief in California. The supervisors mentioned among their reasons for opposing the relief measure that a referendum vote would reject it, causing needless election expense, and that the money would go 70 percent to machinery and supplies and only 30 percent to labor.

HERO OF SERIES

Pepper Martin, who slamed in four of the five cardinal runs today, including a home run in the sixth inning. Martin is batting well over 700 for the series.

MARTIN ONCE MORE HERO OF CONTEST

Drives in Four of St. Louis Runs, Including Homer In Sixth Frame Today

HALLAHAN IS TIGHT

Waite Hoyt and Walberg of Athletics Fail to Stop Hitting of Nationals

SHIBE PARK, PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7.—(UP)—The St. Louis Cardinals beat the Athletics, 5 to 1 in the fifth game of the world series today. The series standing is now three victories for St. Louis and two for Philadelphia.

Pepper Martin, the young outfielder of the Cardinals, clinched without a doubt the "hero" role for the world series today.

Two timely singles, a home run and a high fly that scored a mate were his contributions to the victory. The Philadelphia fans rose to acclaim the youngster whose playing so far had been spectacular in this series.

Martin's hitting was the high offensive punch for the Cardinals, but meanwhile Wild Bill Hallahan stood out there on the mound throwing them past the Athletics. Inning after inning he cut down the Mackenmen with only Simmons nicking him. Not until the late innings were the American league champions able to mass on the Cardinals' pitcher to any effect.

The Athletics pitching staff had an unfortunate day. Waite Hoyt was the starting pitcher and he lasted six innings. He was relieved in turn by Rube Walberg, who later was relieved by Eddie Rommel.

The Cards got off to a one run lead in the first inning. Adams singled and High relieved him as base runner. A single by Frankie Frisch put High on third and Martin's fly to left scored High.

Not until the sixth inning did the Cards again score. In that inning Martin hit a home run into the left field stands, scoring Frisch, who had doubled. They scored one run in each of the eighth and ninth innings. In the eighth Watkins walked and stole second. By fast base running Watkins scored on Martin's single to left.

In the ninth Bottomley, who had gotten on by a force out, was brought to third by Wilson's single.

HOOVER PLANS TO BRING HALT TO DEPRESSION

The purpose of the entire program is to liquidate the assets of the United States. The foundation of credit in the form of vast stocks of gold, of great public works, individual and collective industry and the invested capital of private industries is as available today as in the summer of 1929 when the depression was beginning to its zenith.

As it touches the individual, Mr. Hoover's program would appear in a variety of forms. For the destroyer of closed banks it is designed to release a portion of his cash assets. For the proprietor of a business it is meant to ease credit. In the stock market it is expected to lift some of the burden which has pressed stock value downward as banks disposed of first class securities in order to prepare against possible abnormal drains upon their resources. It is designed to release additional funds for purchase of whatever may be for sale. With the restoration of easier credit conditions, Mr. Hoover contemplates restoration of confidence of the American people in themselves. Bankers could relax, somewhat, the stringent precautions to which fear has driven them.

That is the Hoover plan. Its fate depends in part on a congress whose legislative machinery will function less effectively this winter than in many years past because neither party possesses a working majority. Interest is widespread in Washington in Mr. Hoover's next move in the face of the admittedly unfavorable congressional situation. A less spectacular and far less embracing move toward a political truce was made by Mr. Hoover on the eve of the short session last December. He communicated with Democratic leaders, seeking pledges of support for emergency relief measures largely in behalf of agriculture and the drought states. The pledge was given but request and reply were in vague terms. None felt any binding responsibility to Mr. Hoover on account of the exchange. There was, in fact, considerable resentment among Democrats because their congressional leaders had made any promises whatever to Mr. Hoover. There were no practical results from the Democratic pledges except disharmony in the Democratic party in congress.

Bi-Partisan Support

Mr. Hoover sought bi-partisan support last night in the face of another emergency. Speculation today revolves around the means he will adopt to obtain it. Aware of their troubles last winter, the Democratic leaders evidently went no further than to accept the Hoover plan "in principle." It remains to be seen whether Mr. Hoover will be able to coerce or persuade a working majority of Republicans and Democrats in congress to accept his program in fact.

Last night's conference began at 9 p. m. and ended just at midnight. At 12:40 a. m. today President Hoover issued a statement which had been agreed upon in the conference, outlining the foregoing program.

"The times call for unity of action on the part of our people," it said in conclusion. "We have met with great difficulties not of our own making. It requires determination to overcome these difficulties and above all to restore and maintain confidence. Our people owe it, not only to themselves and in their own interest, but they can by such example of stability and purpose give hope and confidence in our own country and to the rest of the world."

The question of increased taxes and an extra session of congress were not discussed.

President Hoover's sudden action in summoning more than 30 republican and democratic members of both houses provided one of the most spectacular occasions Washington has seen since the war. Its importance was marked in Wall Street yesterday when, even before his program was revealed, stocks took a long upward spurt. Believing the existing emergency second only to war, Mr. Hoover sought a virtual political truce in seeking unified support for his program.

Though this support was granted in principle on the financial program some Democrats present indicated opposition to any sweeping armistice. Strong independence was manifested especially by Rep. John N. Garner, small, minority floor leader and probable speaker in event the Democrats organize the house. His attitude foreshadowed rough political warfare in event the Democrats take control in the house.

Opposition Felt

President Hoover's plan to extend the German moratorium also brought strong opposition from several, including Senator Watson, majority floor leader, without whose support pro-administration action in congress would be difficult.

Democratic independence flared up almost as soon as the group had settled in the rockers and on the divans in the library on the second floor.

Mr. Hoover opened the conference by reading his statement which was much in the form later given to the press. As he concluded he said, according to one of those present:

"This is what I want to recommend to congress and I want you gentlemen to underwrite it."

Garner broke in.

"I told the president," Garner said later, "that this was an extraordinary situation and that it looked as if he wanted us to write his message to congress." Mr. Hoover replied it was an extraordinary situation and that was why he had called them to Washington.

One witness said Mr. Hoover red-dened at Garner's interruption. The president, he said, was drawing geometrical figures on a pad.

The domestic financial features of the president's program were agreed to in principle with little discussion.

Then came the debt question. "That was the row began," one of those present told the United Press.

Mr. Hoover stated he intended to take up the question of extending the German moratorium with Premier Laval here later in the month. No time was indicated, though Mr. Hoover was said by one to have two years in mind.

Hits Cancellation
Garner declared he was opposed to any cancellation of the war debts. He said it was a proposition to help international bankers by wiping out $10,000,000,000 of government debts and leaving the bankers in better position to collect their $12,000,000,000 private debts. Garner said later Mr. Hoover and Under-Secretary of Treasury Mills argued this with him for 30 minutes on the long distance telephone before he left Texas Saturday.

At the conference Garner said that if those present agreed to Mr. Hoover's plan, it would be an inference that they would support the extension in congress. Mr. Hoover agreed. Garner said he couldn't be bound.

Rep. Crips, Dem., Ga., a member of the original debt funding commission, interrupted to say he also was opposed to cancellation. Then Senator Borah, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, repeated the vigorous argument which he made privately to Mr. Hoover last week that he was opposed to any further concessions until Europe disarmed. Senator Watson, Republican senate leader, joined the opposition as did Senator Joseph T. Robinson, minority leader. A Democrat, Senator Glass, Va., was the chief person to come to Mr. Hoover's support.

One opponent of the extension commented later that Mr. Hoover had practically asked them to sign a blank check to agree in advance to anything he discussed with Laval.

After the conference broke up, several of the Democratic congressmen accompanied Garner to his hotel a block away. In the lobby they staged what some described as an "indignation meeting."

Paris Is Pleased At Hoover Decision

PARIS, Oct. 7.—(UP)—Greatest importance was attached today to President Hoover's plan of economic rehabilitation by French officials and the Paris press.

Paris was pleased to know Mr. Hoover had decided to await the arrival of Premier Pierre Laval before discussing prolongation of the debt moratorium.

The United Press learned Laval is anxious to collaborate with the president in his moratorium plans and that France is prepared to make sacrifices without demanding counter-sacrifices from Germany. France would be pleased, however, with German gestures of international solidarity.

It was believed a one year prolongation of the moratorium would be preferred because the European situation is changing so rapidly that none would be able to predict the situation a year hence. President Hoover's conferences at Washington overshadowed the Paris visit of Lord Reading, British foreign secretary conferring with French officials prior to Laval's visit to Washington. Lord Reading met Foreign Minister Aristide Briand and Finance Minister Pierre Etienne Flandin this morning.

CURRY TAKES OVER WELFARE DUTIES

Byron Curry, Santa Ana business man and president of the Federal Finance company, today took charge of the county welfare department located in the annex to the court house. Curry was appointed yesterday by the board of supervisors to succeed Walter S. Gregg, of Orange, who yesterday tendered his resignation to the board after being in charge of the department since its inception in 1915.

Curry said today that he had no statement to make on taking office except that he would handle the work to the best of his ability. Gregg today said he had no comment to make in the case.

EFFICIENCY IN ORANGE COUNTY DAIRIES URGED

By W. M. CORY, Assistant Farm Advisor

Dividend payments are like the weather this year, unusual, except to those dairymen belonging to a cowtesting association, who have their cows tested for butterfat production.

The skeptic may wonder how it would be possible to pay dividends this year. They would come by more efficient management of the herd than could otherwise be possible. Monthly individual milk tests reveal which cows are producing a sufficient amount of butterfat to pay for their keep. It enables the feeder to effect economies in the feeding of concentrates. Savings made on this item alone oftentimes amounts to more than that ever declared on the best of stock certificates even when declaring of dividends is the custom. And lastly, the dairymen in a cowtesting association is building for the future when saving the heifers from his best producing cows. This item might be classified a stock dividend on which interest payments would come at a later date.

Like most industries, adversity tests the ability of the management to pay the bills. The dairy industry is no exception. Only the one who conducts his business along the most economic and efficient lines will be able to exist. Along with this comes a demand for higher standards which is fostered by the better producers as high quality products and always find a more ready market, whether it be dairy products or oranges. Especially is this true when there appears to be an over supply of the commodity in question. Likewise, higher quality standards tend to stimulate consumer demand, especially with a product such as milk. Milk is not as popular a drink at fountains and stands in comparison with other drinks as its thirst quenching properties would merit.

Higher quality standards generally mean an added expense somewhere along the line. This only tends to increase the necessity of keeping a closer tab on the performance of each individual in the herd as the individual is the unit of income or expense on the dairy. The fixed charges are so much a month on a dairy, the amount depending upon the capital invested, and the feed and labor involved. It takes so many pounds of butterfat at the prevailing price received to meet these payments. Those animals not equalling the minimum needed to pay actual costs, obviously are being kept at a loss. Again, feeders will observe an increase in production with added grain, whereas others will only put more fat on their bodies.

EXPECT HOT STUFF AT BREAKFAST CLUB

With Rodney Bacon chairman of a committee of which B. Z. McKinney, Earl Morrow and Bruce Switzer are the other members, Santa Ana Breakfast club members are expecting almost anything to happen tomorrow morning when they meet at Ketter's cafe in regular session.

Bacon announced that through an arrangement with a radio dealer a loud speaker will be installed in the dining room and arrangements have been completed for a hookup that will provide one of the snappiest programs to be broadcast.

The program, according to Bacon, will be composed of local talent and several Santa Ana celebrities will be featured. The program scheduled as a 20-minute feature, according to its sponsors, is known as the "Between Rumor" hour.

and home by a single made by Gelbert.

The only Athletics run came in the seventh inning. Al Simmons singled to left, went to third on Fox's single and scored when Miller forced Fox at second.

It was a great day at bat for both Martin and Simmons, each of whom had three hits out of four times at bat. Martin's hitting today brought his series total to 19, one short of the record held by several players. Simmons' were two singles and one double.

Hallahan had a tough day at field. Once his gloved hand knocked down a hard line smash, which went for a single. Again a batted ball struck his chest, bounced into right field and was good for a single.

Immediately after the game the Cards hurried to their special train, to leave for St. Louis, where the series competition will be renewed Friday.

The Athletics were scheduled to leave on their special at 8 p. m.

DEATHS

A WORD OF COMFORT

Does your existence seem drab and your endeavor fruitless? Look at the flowers of the field. By a miracle from God their color and fragrance is released from dried-up seeds buried in the earth.

Your life, which seems so useless, is submerged in the whirlpool of life but if you keep in touch with God, a miracle happens. Out of what appeared to be barren there are harvests of strength and courage, which bring you joy and serve as an inspiration to all whose paths cross yours.

God would not squander the cost of keeping you alive, if He did not have some mighty task for you to do. These duties well done fit you for Paradise with the one you love.

HOSHAW—At the family home, Santa Ana, R. D. No. 3, October 7, 1931, James Henry Hoshaw, aged 62 years, husband of Mrs. Anna E. Hoshaw, and father of Kenneth H. Hoshaw. Funeral services will be held from Winkler's funeral home, 609 North Main street, Friday, October 9, at 2:30 p. m., Rev. W. A. Buchanan, of the First Christian Church, officiating. ## BANDITS GET $40 AND AUTO AT CAPISTRANO

Disregarding passing cars, two youths, shortly before noon today, robbed Gerlando Piro, salesman of North Hollywood, of $40, pushed him from his car near San Juan Capistrano and speeded away toward Santa Ana.

The holdup occurred at the south entrance to San Juan Capistrano. Piro, who escaped serious injuries when he landed on the ground, walked into the mission city to report the robbery. Officers immediately threw out a net for the young bandits.

Piro reports that he picked the boys up in San Diego. They told him stories of being out of work and of efforts to get employment, he said.

Near San Juan Capistrano one of the passengers drew a gun and commanded Piro to hand over his money. Piro gave the youth $20, whereupon the bandit pulled the trigger of the gun. The gun failed to explode and the salesman then gave the bandit another $20 bill. Satisfied with this sum, the youths opened the car door and threw the owner out.

Piro told officers he had a large sum of money on his person. The machine is a 1928 Buick coupe, painted a cream color and trimmed in green. The license number is 4S-95-04.

FINKLE WINS POINT IN SUIT FOR DAMAGES

With the defense resting every inch of the way, counsel for F. C. Finkle today was successful in placing in the records testimony from the plaintiff as to his belief regarding damage he suffered as a result of publication by Horace Head, Santa Ana attorney of an article about Finkle during the 1929 campaign for flood control bonds.

Finkle said he believed he had suffered financial loss and loss of clients as a result of the article. He also said he had been in great year long members of his family should read it.

His attorney, Randall Hood, said he wished it were possible to present testimony as to what people actually said to Finkle after the publication, but that it would be impossible under court rules.

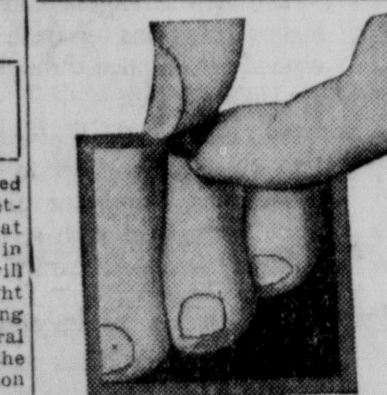

J. C. Metzgar, secretary of the Water Users' association during the bond campaign, was called and was asked about his knowledge as to Head's attitude toward Finkle in speeches during the campaign. Objections by Judge R. Y. Williams and Col. M. B. Wellington, defense attorneys, prevented Metzgar from testifying.

Hood called a number of character witnesses for Finkle, including Associate Justice N. P. Conery, of the second district appellate court at Los Angeles; George G. Mott, Los Angeles attorney, and J. W. Catlock, former mayor of San Bernardino, all of whom testified that Finkle's general reputation was good.

Yesterday afternoon Head's attorneys attempted to introduce testimony from him to the effect that he had additional information of a personal nature about the article. Objections by Hood, however, prevented Head from revealing this information. Wellington said he wished to introduce it to show that Head had no malice in writing the article.

Unemployed to Glean Bean Fields As Aid

Men who are unemployed are offered the chance to glean bean fields over Orange county this week, arrangements completed by the employment office of the special Santa Ana unemployment committee, headed by John Estes. All beans gleaned may be kept by the men for their family consumption.

Eight large fields are open for gleaning. These fields are at Garden Grove, Greenville, Westminster, three at Huntington Beach and two near Santa Ana.

The procedure to be followed by those desiring to glean the fields requires that the men call at the employment office, 113 North Main street, and there secure from Mrs. David McMillan field assignments. The bean crop has been harvested and the fields will be plowed about October 15, it is disclosed.

CONFERENCE ON USE OF WATER LANDS PLANNED

As soon as such a conference can be arranged, the board of supervisors will meet with representatives of the Anaheim Union Water company and Santa Ana Valley Irrigation company to work out an equitable agreement for possible use of water company lands in the Santa Ana canyon for reservoir purposes. It voters of Orange county approve the 1931 plan for flood control.

The board yesterday took steps to arrange such a meeting and the water companies will be informed that any Tuesday would be a satisfactory day to the board.

The supervisors' action was taken after a letter had been received from O. S. Stephens, president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce, urging that the board negotiate with the water concerns "to develop such agreements as may be reasonable and necessary to safeguard the interests of the water companies and at the same time permit use of their lands for control reservoir purposes in the event the voters of Orange county later pass a bond issue for development of a flood-control project."

The letter also urged that the board attempt to bring about a friendly settlement of the question pertaining to use of the water in the San Juan basin. It was pointed out that there is a "conflict of interests unfavorable to unified support of the bond issue." The board discussed the matter with a group, including Stephens, Thomas Murphy of San Clemente and Rom Shaffer of Tustin, but reached no final decision on this point.

A letter from Ross Shaffer, member of the water committee of the associated body, suggested that Murray Thompson, Orange county flood control engineer, be placed in contact with the state engineering board, which reviews water projects considered by the state, in order that the supervisors might have first hand information on projects concerning Orange county.

Is there basic value behind your savings?

WHEN boom times give way to a period of stress, there comes a great threshing out of values. Financial chaff is swept away. Only the soundest investment values are left . . . values based upon fundamental human needs

America has seen many such threshings in the past hundred years. And through them all the home loan has remained . . . a basic investment value . . . rooted in the fundamental human need for shelter.

Before the members of a family will give up their home, they will forego every luxury and cut down on many a necessity.

They will find less expensive amusements . . . buy fewer clothes and wear them longer . . . eat cheaper food and less of it. Anything to protect their home.

That unvarying rule of human conduct is the fundamental security behind Pacific States Savings, largest of America's building and loan associations.

When you place your savings here, they are protected by first lien, monthly payment loans on over 12 thousand homes situated in selected California cities. These homes represent the choicest security available in our field . . . attracted by our notably low loan rate. Each home has been conservatively appraised. And each loan is being systematically reduced by monthly payments . . . energetically collected so that they may not pile up in arrears.

Guarded by such basic, wisely managed security, no funds entrusted to our care have ever shrunk a penny. Throughout 42 years of good times and bad, every dollar of principal has remained safe and intact, and every dollar of due interest has been promptly paid.

That is why, today, we hold the confidence of more than 30 thousand conservative savers . . . and why your October funds may wisely be placed here to earn 5% interest (or slightly higher yields on a definite term basis). Our Statement shows our strength. Send for it.

$34,700 AWARDS MADE HERE BY SUPERVISORS

With the successful bids low enough to effect a considerable saving over preliminary estimates for the work, the board of supervisors yesterday awarded contracts for construction of a portion of the Santiago canyon road around the Tuleburg bridge over the Santa Ana river. The road work went to J. E. Dudley, of Long Beach, whose bid of $30,826.25 was low. The bridge job went to the California Gunite Construction company, of Los Angeles, on the low bid of $3741.18.

Ordinances passed by the board of supervisors require use of Orange county labor on such projects. The road work was estimated previously to cost about $40,000 and the bridge raising about $5000.

Other bids submitted on the road were as follows: C. G. Willis and sons, Long Beach, $50,236.23; J. P. Berne and company, Los Angeles, $37,131.26; J. O'Hara, Los Angeles, $39,076.02; Steele Finley, Santa Ana, $37,384.79; Western Construction company, Los Angeles, $40,658.55; Bruce Brothers, Inc., Long Beach, $39,931.46; T. G. Smith and F. D. ## DECLARES PROHIBITION HERE TO STAY AS LONG AS WOMEN HAVE BALLOT

Pointing out that women of the nation were given the right to vote after the Eighteenth amendment had been adopted, and declaring that this vote would have to be taken away before the Eighteenth amendment could be repealed, Mrs. Minnie Neville, president of the Orange W. C. T. U. and state secretary of social morality for the W. C. T. U. made an interesting address from KREG during the Church of the Wildwood period yesterday.

She said in part:

"In 1932 there will be a gigantic clash of the wet and dry forces. The liquor people have thrown down the gauntlet for the campaign and the friends of the 18th amendment have accepted the challenge. The battle is on.

"It is said that the results of the next national election will influence, if they do not determine, the fate of the 18th amendment.

"The W. C. T. U. is a part of the unified movement supporting the 18th amendment, in which 33 organizations are banded. These groups previously have acted independently and, therefore, to some extent antagonistically. They did not think together. Therefore, they did not act together. They differed as to the best way of doing what they all wanted done.

No Better Plan
"There are 42 groups organized to defeat the 18th amendment under the name of the A. A. P. A. and they are united in purpose, but not in program—a fatal weakness. They cannot agree on any substitute for the 18th amendment, for the very good reason that no way better than the 18th amendment of dealing with the liquor traffic has yet been discovered.

"The A. A. P. A. is well organized, highly financed, ably led. It has the support of the liquor traffic of the world. A few wealthy wets along the Atlantic coast like the Backs, the Du Ponts, the Sabins have enlisted their fortunes and their organizing brains in rebellion.

"The strength of prohibition is found in religion. Other forces contribute to its success. The railroads began to discriminate against the occasional drinker. Sports would not fool with a youngster who drank at all. But the dynamics of the temperance reform is spiritual.

Power in Churches
"A deep sense that what is morally wrong cannot be legally right sent the women of America to their knees and the men of America to the polls.

"You cannot take the spiritual out of prohibition, any more than you can take the engine out of an automobile and expect it to go. There is more power in the churches and the Sunday schools than all the big names in the country.

"The wets are weak numerically—75 per cent of the people in the United States are bone dry. And the wets have the women to reckon with before they get the repeal of the 18th amendment. They must turn the little trick of getting rid of the 18th amendment. The women did not vote when the 18th amendment went into the constitution.

Fine Leaders

When a board of strategy was formed uniting the dry forces under a fine, strong leadership when they met in Washington, D. C., June 26, it developed that 32 organizations were ready. Dr. Cherrington is president of the national board of strategy—the best known prohibitionist in the world. Dr. Dinwiddie is the executive secretary, and under this fine leadership there will be effective fighting and no blunders. A great educational program, combined with thorough organization simply cannot be beaten.

"Then it would seem we must begin to help the youth to know the conditions as they existed in pre-prohibition times. The young people of today are victims of the wet propaganda that comes continually by newspapers, magazines, movies and over the radio. They do not have the experience to read behind the lines and pick the flaws in such publicity, as we who know what the conditions were in the past. But youth is fair-minded and, when they know the facts, will support the dry cause.

Pastors Have Duty

"A great responsibility lays at the door of the ministry. Why should the young people of any church be left in doubt about the benefits of the 18th amendment? Why should they be ignorant of the actual facts with reference to one of the foremost social and moral questions of the age? Why, indeed, except that their parents, their ministers and their church teachers are themselves ignorant or indifferent. There is a clear call today for a firm word from the pulpit on this subject. Let the preachers speak out clearly and plainly on behalf of righteousness.

"Colonel Frank Ebbert of Los Angeles says: 'Our youth are looking forward, not backward. Thirty million boys and girls are in our schools. Prohibition put thousands of them there. We can, must and will teach them the evils of beverage alcohol, the great value of prohibition, its observance and enforcement. If we properly educate our youth, wets cannot take prohibition from us. It is a mystery, with such weighty issues at stake, how any intelligent, loyal citizen can keep out of the fight for the welfare of our boys and girls.'

FOUR INJURED IN TWO COUNTY AUTO CRASHES

Four persons were injured in two automobile accidents reported in the county yesterday. None of those hurt are believed to have been seriously injured.

Three were injured when cars driven by Mrs. Mollie Workman, 45, of 995 North Batavia street, Orange, and H. M. Lane, 74, Newport Beach real estate man, collided at the intersection of the Newport Beach road and Broadway, Costa Mesa.

Both Mrs. Workman and Lane were hurt together with Mrs. Anna Petersen, of 414 East Palmyra street, Orange. The accident occurred at 5:20 p. m.

Mrs. Henry J. Davidson, 63, of 1341 West Seventh street, San Pedro, was reported injured when the car in which she was riding with Dorothy V. Davidson, 21, of 1341 West Ninth street, San Pedro, was struck by a car reported driven by Ralph Romero, 45, East Anaheim street, Long Beach. The accident occurred on the Coast Highway near the outlet of the Santa Ana river.

The radiator on the Davidson car fell off and Miss Davidson stopped to retrieve it when her car was struck from the rear, it was reported.

ORGANIZE TO COMBAT BEACH OIL POLLUTION

Meeting in Long Beach yesterday, civic leaders representing every coastal community from Santa Barbara to San Diego organized a Save-the-Beaches league and resolved to form a committee of 25 representatives of the beach communities to investigate, make recommendations, seek legislation and enforcement and wage war on the sources of oil pollution which it is said are rapidly destroying the value of Southern California beaches as resorts for rest and recreation.

Ole Hansen, founder of San Clemente, who was active in calling yesterday's meeting, was named chairman of the committee of 25. He appointed from among the leaders who addressed the meeting, Lieut.-Gov. Frank W. Merriam, Congressman Phil D. Swing and Joe Crall, and George W. Bliss, Santa Barbara assemblyman. Hansen announced that he will confer with leaders in the various communities in selecting the remainder of the committee.

The resolution enabling formation of the league and committee of 25 was introduced by George W. Bush of Sunset Beach. Mandates adopted by the meeting instructed the new committee to urge supervisors in the several counties of Southern California to offer rewards for arrest and conviction of persons dumping oil which pollutes beaches, and to seek the fullest co-operation from the state chamber of commerce. Legislators addressing the meeting pledged the co-operation of federal, state and county law making bodies; government and state agents promised enforcement; and speakers representing oil and shipping concerns offered co-operation.

ADVISOR TELLS NECESSITY OF ORCHARD CARE

By HAROLD E. WAHLBERG
Orange County Farm Advisor

It is well to economize and reduce production costs wherever possible when it can be done to effect better production or maintain good production and quality. But any material cuts in costs that will impair the yield and quality of the crop and the vigor of the three cannot be classed in the category of economy.

In reviewing the production cost reports of growers in Orange county during the past few years, many instances have come to notice where excessive expenditures in the use of fertilizers and water and other materials have occurred. By more judicious selection of fertilizer materials in some cases, a more intelligent use of water in other cases, and more conservative cultivation by many growers, a logical saving could and has been made.

But care should be taken now not to go too far in the other direction. The present depression with its almost universal unsatisfactory returns to the producer, has probably over-emphasized the practice of economy in

VERA GETTY BOOKED FOR LONG VAUDEVILLE TOUR

Miss Vera Getty, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Getty, 1126 West Pine street, leaves Los Angeles tomorrow for a 62 week tour of the United States with the Fanchon and Marco "Parasol Idea" vaudeville act. Miss Getty signed her contract as a Fanchon and Marco dancer two weeks ago, and has since appeared at Lowe's State and Pantages theater in Hollywood. Her tour includes six weeks in Chicago and five weeks in New York. Miss Getty graduated from Santa Ana high school in June. She will be remembered here as having made a number of appearances in recital for the Claire Coutant School of Dancing. She has been an assistant teacher in the school during the last year.

In the "Parasol Idea" Miss Getty appears in a very difficult number in which she will ride a unicycle without handle bars. It is said to be one of the most unusual ensemble numbers staged by Fanchon and Marco.

the orchard. We are finding many orchards that will go without fertilizer this fall and others that will suffer for the lack of water. Such is poor economy and short sightedness.

Just now it is important that the citrus orchard should have an ample supply of moisture when we may expect the annual recurrence of desert winds at any time. These dry desiccating winds are severe on the tree. An ample supply of soil moisture in the orchard prior to the windstorms will reduce the extent of damage to the tree.

I realize it is unpopular to talk about spending money when there is little if any to spend on the basis of this year's farm returns, but the fallacy of allowing trees to suffer permanent injury from a temporary economic situation should be pointed out to the industry at this time.

The future vigor and productivity of an orchard will be materially affected by the care it is given each year. We can't expect good crops and quality in future years from trees that are set back by starving for food and water.

FORD ASSIGNS REASONS FOR JESUS' DEITY

"Jesus Christ is not a mere man but is the mighty God. He is not existing as a heap of ashes over in some oriental tomb but is alive for evermore," said Evangelist John E. Ford last night in speaking to a large audience at his tabernacle on North Main street.

"At the end of His short ministry His own people rejected Him. His disciples forsook Him, even His mother despaired of the success of His mission, and He was slain with the vilest of criminals. There was no tangible reason to believe that His name would survive the tomb, yet He lifted empires off their hinges and tinged the whole stream of time with His blood. Certainly He was no ordinary man. He was God."

"The greatest events of history are dated so many years before or after Christ. He is the number one of all history. How could He, a poor, humble carpenter's son, become the central figures of all history without taking a life or fighting a single battle unless He was God?"

"When Christ was facing the death of a criminal forsaken by everybody, despised by His own people, and unknown to the rest of the world, He made the prediction that one day His name would be heralded the world around. Did it come true? It has gone everywhere. How did He know that such a thing would happen unless He were God? The name of Christ has grown mightier with every passing year. He has broken over the bounds of all nationalities. Neither time nor distance can lessen His power. Christ is surely the mighty God."

PLACE MILLION FISH IN UPPER NEWPORT BAY

Upper Newport bay today was stocked with striped bass, a food and game fish, special containers with the fish arriving from San Francisco this morning.

The fish range in size from 10 to 12 inches and when full grown weigh well over 50 pounds. The state fish and game commission sent the fish at the request of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce, the Balboa Angling club and the Izak Walton League.

According to George Macleod, secretary of the Newport chamber, the bass are expected to thrive in the combination of fresh and salt water in the bay north of the state highway bridge.

The chamber was promised 1,000,000 striped bass by representatives of the commission who inspected the bay several weeks ago.

YOU can see them on your tongue—thousands of tiny clusters of taste-buds.

Papillae, science calls these sensitive organs. You taste with them.

But — when they're tired, jaded, your taste "goes dead." Your cigarette, your food, taste flat.

No action can be taken by the joint groups but it is expected that a better understanding of the problems involved will be reached through the conference.

E. E. Campbell, chairman of the water committee, has arranged for the meeting. A number of the gun club managers will be present. It was assured by C. H. Phillips, of Santa Ana, secretary of the Sprig gun club at Newport bay.

This year's supply of water for the gun clubs has been contracted

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK BROADCAST FROM KREG TELLS OF ALARM SYSTEM

Giving advice on just what action to take should a fire occur, and telling precautions to take to prevent fires, Captain John Garthe, of the Santa Ana fire department spoke yesterday during the fire prevention program from KREG in connection with the observance of national Fire Prevention week.

He said in part:

"If the individual is trained to be careful in his home he is apt to be at his work and elsewhere. Unfortunately, some people seem to have a state of mind that does not consider very carefully the welfare of others. No one would throw a match in combustible refuse on his property—but on somebody else's—that's different. This type of individual we will perhaps always have with us, but if he of his own volition will not respect the rights of others, where he does cause injury, he should pay the penalty.

"The fire prevention and fire protection problem resolves itself into preventing the outbreak of fire, preventing the serious spread of fire, and providing for the prompt detection and extinguishing of fire.

"Fire prevention means constant vigilance on the part of each of us. Group action can do much to stimulate thought in this direction as witness the success that has attended fire prevention weeks. But more than a fire prevention week, we want fire prevention day to be observed by every one, every day in the year.

Time Important

"The various means in ordinary use for the protection of premises against fire and for the notification of the fire department—all involving the human element—include watchman, telephone, auxiliary fire alarm system.

"The most important item in fighting a fire is to get the alarm so quickly that men, machines and methods can be brought into action while the fire is still in its incipient, rather than after it has reached a devastating stage.

"Slowness and inaccuracy in sending an alarm means the loss of many valuable minutes at the beginning of a fire. Seconds, time and again, have measured the loss of life. Minutes have just as frequently spelled complete property destruction. If you are dependent upon the municipal fire department for fire protection, take the advice of its chief—use the fire alarm box.

"The fact that human life and property of incalculable value depends upon the rapid and accurate transmission of alarms to the fire department makes the fire alarm system one of the most important of all emergency signalling services. No effort is spared in arranging the devices to insure their correct manipulation and to facilitate the transmission of alarms.

Alarm System Vital

"The fire alarm system is one of the most important divisions of the fire department and equally as important as the apparatus division. Much time may be lost in notifying the department of a fire, and time lost can never be made up.

"The fire alarm system has been constantly improved upon until today its operation is infallible. It has no varied duties to perform and therefore, there is no chance of interruption in its operation. The importance of the fire alarm system cannot be emphasized too strongly.

"The prime object of a fire alarm system is to transmit an alarm of fire to the fire fighting force within the shortest possible time after a fire is known to exist, and the best efforts and ingenuity of skilled engineers have been brought to bear on this vital question of saving time in the transmission of alarms.

Gives Instructions

"The fire alarm headquarters, located at 625 Cypress street, is the heart of the fire alarm system, and at this point is located the apparatus for receiving, recording and transmitting signals and alarms of fire.

"Each alarm box contains a telegraph key for sending special signals over the fire alarm circuit.

"Here's how to operate a fire alarm box:

"First: Break the glass.
"Second: Turn the key in the lock and open door of box.
"Third: Take hold of the large hook, pull down once only, then release hook.

"Fourth: Wait at the box until the arrival of the apparatus to direct same to the scene of the fire. Valuable time is often lost, if this important point is overlooked.

"Locate and keep in your mind the fire alarm box nearest your plant, residence or place of business."

Legionnaires to Hear Report From Building Group

The first meeting of the Santa Ana post of the American Legion under its recently elected officers is to be held following the regular monthly dinner at Legion hall on North Birch street tomorrow evening. The dinner is scheduled for 6:30 o'clock.

Special entertainment has been arranged for the affair by Ed Kolbe. Routine business is to be transacted, according to Commander William Penn.

The first report of the building committee which was appointed at the last meeting to consider the advisability of construction of new quarters, is to be made by Jules Markel, chairman.

Jaycee Discussion Period on Love Open to Public

Planning continuation of last year's "Y" discussions, students of the Santa Ana Junior college are again offered an opportunity to participate in these open forum meetings held every Thursday morning in the Jaycee building, according to Jad Crawford, Y. M. C. A. president, and Jack Green, in charge of the discussion group.

Tomorrow will be devoted again to the subject of "The Young Person and Love," and the specific topic of "The Physical Side of Love" will be discussed. It is the plan of Green and the committee in charge to hold these discussions on topics of more or less general interest to everyone for the first semester, during which time love, marriage, and idealistic preparation for life will be taken up. The second semester will be devoted mostly to citizenship and problems of racial difficulties, Green said.

Following a suggestion made by Mrs. Jenny Lashy Tammann, advisor for the Y. W. C. A., the discussion period has also been opened to women. The public is invited to these sessions. Edward M. Nealley, Jaycee psychology and philosophy instructor, will be present tomorrow and present some ideas gathered from a professor's point of view.

THE HOBO AND THE HAND-OUT

SOME thoughtless people entertain the idea that when a bank is approached for accommodation it should be prepared to extend the same irrespective of the merits of the case—just as a thoughtless hand-out is given to the casual hobo.

BUT before extending accommodation conservative banks desire a thorough acquaintance with the borrower. Such an acquaintance is best made through an account with the bank, whereby it becomes familiar with the business and financial habits of the future borrower.

WILL ANNOUNCE FIRE PROGRAM SPEAKER LATER

Care in the handling of matches, smoking materials and inflammable cleanser in household use will be stressed tomorrow in the regular Fire Prevention program being broadcast from station KREG from 11 to 11:30 a. m. as a part of Santa Ana's observance of National Fire Prevention Week. These radio programs are being directed by Fire Chief John Luxemburger. The speaker for tomorrow will be announced at the time of presenting the program.

"Study of leading fire causes," Luxemburger said today, "reveals a startling similarity in the value of property destroyed from year to year as a result of each. There is a very marked tendency for losses from the leading causes to maintain the same relative position and, in fact, the actual amount of loss attributable to each seems to vary but little. For example, the actuarial bureau of the National Board of Fire Underwriters reports the amount paid by its members in 1928 for fire losses resulting from the use of matches and smoking materials totaled approximately $27,903,000. The following year the loss attributable to this cause was slightly in excess of $27,571,000. This fire cause has been the second largest known cause for some years, the only large one being classified as 'exposure.' More than $41,000,000 in losses was recorded in this classification in 1929 as compared to $37,100,000 in 1928."

TUSTIN STUDENTS PREPARE PROGRAM

Tomorrow's program to be broadcast by direct wire from Tustin high school by station KREG has been turned over to the students, according to an announcement today.

Joe Bennett, student body president, will deliver a brief address on "School Spirit" and will be followed by Sharpless Hickman, editor of the school paper, "The Broadcaster." Sharpless will talk on "Student Publications."

School athletics will be discussed by James Torrens, athletic manager, and Evelyn Furtch, who will be a contestant in the Olympic games next year, will talk on "My Trip to the Women's National Track Meet."

Will Tell of Ancient Pair of Shoes

More news about the Shoe Endurance contest will be told tonight at 6:45 p. m. during the Serene and Fulkerson program featuring classical numbers from station KREG. The program will be officially opened with the theme song, "The Woman in the Shoe." During the program listeners will be told about the pair of shoes on display at Serene and Fulkerson's store. The shoes, brought in by Jessie Johnson of Tustin, are 44 years old and were worn by Mr. Johnson and, later, by his daughter. They are baby shoes.

The contest being sponsored by the Serene and Fulkerson shoe store at Fourth and Sycamore is unique in the fact that nothing is being offered for sale. On the contrary the opportunity is being offered to win either an $8.50 pair of shoes or a $1 merchandise order and at the same time help the needy in Santa Ana. All shoes entered in the contest will be turned over to the Salvation Army for distribution among the people of Santa Ana who are feeling the pinch of poverty.

STICKER PROGRAM ON AIR TONIGHT

Here is an opportunity for someone to win a prize being offered this week by the Woodruff Granas Co., jewelers, in connection with Art Cannon's "sticker" program tonight over station KREG. Cannon, who is studio pianist, goes on the air tonight from 7 until 7:30 p. m. and challenges anyone to ask for a piano number that he cannot play. The first "sticker" receives the prize. Last week there were 59 requests phoned in during Cannon's program and that seems to be about the limit, because operators at the station can hardly answer them any faster.

Following the "sticker" program the Rainbow Ramblers will be on the air for 30 minutes, playing a program of dance music from the main studio of KREG. From 10:15 p. m. until 11:15 the orchestra will broadcast again by direct wire from the Rainbow dance hall.

MEXICAN ADULT EDUCATION TO BE BROADCAST

Starting tonight at 8:30 the first of a series of Mexican adult educational programs will be broadcast from station KREG. This program, being sponsored by the Department of Adult Education of the city schools, under direction of Mrs. Golden Weston, will continue through the school year.

The programs will be broadcast every Wednesday night and will be tuned in by classes meeting at the same time in the Fremont, Delhi and Logan schools. The department will be assisted in these programs by Dr. Mabel A. Geddes, who is spending a year in Orange county working on an intensive program for the purpose of decreasing the death rate among Mexicans. Her entire time will be devoted to the Mexican baby clinics. Mexican adult education classes meeting at night in other schools of the county will be urged to tune in on these programs.

The program tonight will offer selections by members of the classes on Spanish stringed instruments and will feature a talk by Mrs. A. T. Bethencourt, Spanish instructor in the adult department and president of the Mexican baby clinics in Santa Ana. Both Mrs. Bethencourt and Dr. Geddes have spent considerable time in Mexico contacting Mexican families and are familiar with their customs and habits. Mrs. Bethencourt will speak in Spanish.

The Spanish program, regular KREG feature, under the direction of Senor Guillermo Orozco and being broadcast by direct wire from K. P. hall, will follow immediately after the educational feature.

TWO PROGRAMS OF HARMONY ON KREG

Two programs of real merit offering talent above the average are scheduled for this afternoon over station KREG. Starting at 4 o'clock Ray and Richard will be on the air until 4:30 offering piano and trumpet harmony. Comparatively new to radio audiences these boys are winning a secure place for themselves as entertainers.

At 4:30 p. m. and continuing for 20 minutes the Junior College Co-eds, Joan Baldwin and Verna Hall, of Huntington Beach, will offer a delightful piano and vocal program of classics. Two charming girls, the Co-eds made their bow recently to radio audiences and have won for themselves permanent places on KREG programs. They are on the air every Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

RAYHAWK CANNON WILL BROADCAST

Glen Rayhawk and Art Cannon will be on the air over station KREG from 8 to 8:30 p. m. tonight coaxing sweet music from a saw and studio piano. Rayhawk is one of the few artists who can really coax music out of a saw and of course Cannon needs no introduction as a pianist.

With Cannon playing piano accompaniment Rayhawk will play several selections on his saw and Cannon will play several piano solos.

RADIO FEATURES

GOLD MINING is entering a new era. For the past few months every newspaper and magazine of the country have told of renewed efforts to locate new deposits of gold.

The production of gold has decreased since the war, mainly because there has been no organized effort to find this precious metal.

During the war and the inflation period immediately following, when the price of everything except gold skyrocketed, gold mining became unprofitable except where the ore was extremely rich . . . hence there was no incentive to locate new deposits.

Now . . . however, conditions are reversed. The price of gold is the same as it always has been—$20.67 per ounce—while materials for mining and costs of production are the lowest for 20 years. There never was a more opportune time for the revival of dormant gold mines.

Gold mining stocks on the New York Stock Exchange have been gaining momentum! Everything points to a revival of gold mining activity!

This company offers you an exceptional opportunity to assist in financing a gold mine established in 1888—which has blocked out 1,010 tons of ore which samples at $25.27 per ton, according to an eminent engineer's report. Over 5,000 tons of ore is broken up in stopes and dumps that average $6.00 to $8.00 per ton.

EXTRA POLICE OFFICER PLAN OF MERCHANTS

ORANGE, Oct. 7.—Members of the Orange city council yesterday were asked by representatives of the Merchants' association to place an extra patrolman on duty between the hours of 2 a. m. and 7 a. m. E. H. Smith and Henry Kogler represented the merchants.

Smith called attention to the fact that the window of the Huff jewelry store was smashed recently when there was but one man on duty. It was brought out that as the plaza virtually divides the city in two portions, burglars could operate undisturbed in one half if the patrolman were in the other half.

Kogler said that he believed in economy but he thought this lack of patrolmen was a weak spot. He asked why the hours of the patrolman marking cars could not be changed in some way.

B. F. Richards, chief of police, said that he had made a survey of nearby cities of similar size and that during the month of August the total of crimes in Anaheim, Fullerton, Huntington Beach and Newport Beach had been 47, including traffic citations. In Orange during this month there were 14 arrests, he said.

Fullerton has nine police officers, Anaheim has 14, Newport Beach 14 and Huntington Beach 10, Richards said. The number of police does not seem to make any difference, the chief declared. "More police officers seems to make more crime," he said as he pointed out the number of police officers used to protect citizens of Los Angeles. Richards said that a provision was made in the city budget for extra officers and that if it seemed necessary, one could be called.

Smith called attention to the expected influx of transients from the east this winter.

In an interview after the council meeting, Richards said that the four cities mentioned had different conditions with which to cope as Orange was off the main highway.

LARGER ROOM IS SOUGHT BY JUDGE SWAYZE

ORANGE, Oct. 7.—Judge A. W. Swayze appeared before the city council yesterday and asked for larger quarters in which to hold court. Judge Swayze said that during a jury trial the present court room scarcely provided space for members of the jury and necessary witnesses. The room is poorly ventilated and lighted, he told council members. The judge suggested that the room used at the present time as headquarters for the city nurse and for the health center be used as headquarters for the city police court and justice court. This room is used but once a week.

Clyde Watson was appointed to investigate what other cities are doing regarding health center quarters and the matter is to come up for further consideration. W. W. Perry, head of the Orange Community Welfare board, suggested that a city woodpile be established to provide work for unemployed. This would determine the attitude of those wishing help, he said. Ross Stucky, treasurer of the board, said that he had furnished as many as 17 meals in one day to hungry men and that recently groceries had been given them instead.

CITY COUNCIL GIVEN REPORT ON CONVENTION

ORANGE, Oct. 7.—City Attorney H. L. Dearing, who recently returned from Monterey, where he attended the convention of the League of Municipalities, gave a concise report of the meeting at the regular session of the Orange city council yesterday.

Dearing said that he believed that every city should have a fund for the depreciation of plants and buildings and that the book-keeping of the city should show the depreciation from year to year.

The city attorney reported that while it is unconstitutional for cities of the sixth class to give direct aid to any persons or group of persons, reports on the depression situation at the convention revealed that 10 communities near San Francisco had banded together to establish soup kitchens.

Unemployment and the assessment limitation act were the chief topics discussed, he said.

CHAMBER GETS $100 FOR FLOAT ARMISTICE DAY

ORANGE, Oct. 7.—The city council allowed the Chamber of Commerce $100 for a float to be entered in the Armistice parade at Santa Ana November 11, at the regular meeting yesterday. The abolishment of "U" turns at North Glassell street and Maple avenue, South Glassell street and Almond avenue, West Chapman avenue and Olive street and East Chapman avenue and Orange street was discussed by members of the council and the matter is to be taken under consideration and brought up at the meeting of the body November 3.

W. J. Richardson, city water works superintendent was given permission to attend the convention at Stockton October 14-17. Richardson's expenses were allowed him.

Richardson asked that insurance be placed on the two air tanks at the city plant. The lack of such insurance makes the regular inspection of the tanks necessary, he said, and this costs as much as insurance premiums. Insurance for 26 months could be secured for $73, it was said. Councilman Ben Dierker and Councilman G. A. Shoemaker, members of the water committee, were asked to take the matter up and were given power to act.

DINNER AND PROGRAM SET FOR OCT. 23

ORANGE, Oct. 7.—The second of a series of "booster dinners" planned by the Southern California district of the Waltham league to interest its members and the members of Lutheran churches in the coming International convention of the Waltham league to be held in Southern California in 1932, is to be given at Walker Memorial hall, October 23. The first of this series of dinners was given in Los Angeles in August and was attended by a delegation from the local societies.

The coming dinner is to be given under the auspices of St. John's Senior Waltham league and will be served by the mothers of local leaguers, headed by Mrs. Ben Dierker. In addition to members of the local Waltham league societies, St. John's Senior and Junior and Emmanuel of Orange, and members of the local Lutheran churches, many leaders in Waltham league work from Los Angeles, Riverside, Long Beach and surrounding communities are expected to attend. Following the dinner a program consisting of short talks and novel musical numbers will furnish entertainment.

The change committee consists of Inez Kogler, Albert Ameling, Henry Bosh, Richard Friedman and Hertha Ehlert. The committee on decorations is composed of Edna Bandick, chairman, Ethel Simsen and Lenore Peters and Oliver Aufdenberg and Alford Eisenbraun. Miss Elsie Miller heads the committee on the sale of tickets.

SPORTS through EYEs

By Robert Edgren

College authorities really take into consideration the educational value of football trips; not all distant games are played for the shekels which will roll into the school's athletic fund.

Drake university, for instance, located in Des Moines, Iowa, is sending the football squad to both coasts and to Hawaii. Drake meets Fordham in New York, Loyola in Los Angeles and the University of Hawaii in the Islands.

"We are to receive . . . enough money to take care of the expenses . . . but it is not a money-making enterprise. In our opinion, the trip to California and Hawaii . . . will be very much worth while as an education to the boys," says the business manager.

The team will have a prof or two along to keep it up in its studies, and the three weeks' tour will be more valuable to the boys than any three weeks on the campus. Why not?

It's a good thing for the faculty, too. Gets them out in the air once in a while, taking a prof or two on a nice trip, which is probably a welcome addition to the usual meager salary.

The younger generation of famous old football families is beginning to attract notice.

Willie Heston, son of the famous Michigan point-scorer, and Fielding Yost, Jr., son of the famous coach, are active on the gridiron at Michigan.

At California "Wolf" Ransome's boy is one of the brightest spots in a moderately gloomy situation. "Wolf" was known as the greatest kicker that ever played on the coast and one of the best all-around men. There are other athletes whose sons are just coming into prominence. Conde Mack, Jr., is 1932 captain and pitcher of the Germantown academy ball team. Ty Cobb, Jr., was captain of his high school tennis team and halfback on the football team. Knute Rockne, Jr., is a halfback of the Pembroke Prep midwest team. Christy Mathewson's boy turned out to be a goal aviator. Mike Gibbons' two boys are at Detroit U., where they are trying for football honors.

A few close relatives are following in the footsteps of famous kin. Johnny Doe followed his aunt, May Sutton Bundy, to a national tennis championship, and his young brother is a junior champion. Bill Tilden III, nephew of "Big Bill," won the middle Atlantic junior tennis championship last year. Eric Krenz, fine discus-thrower and shot-putter who recently drowned in Lake Tahoe, gave a trophy for athletic ability which was won by his young brother in open competition.

St. Mary's made a brilliant start to claim the "national" football title, as they won their hardest game the first one of the season, beating U. S. C., 13-7. Southern Methodist and Oregon come later on, with another chance to blast the Gaels. Notre Dame also plays U. S. C. late in the season, so that the comparative strength of the teams will be indicated, especially if Notre Dame should unexpectedly take a nose-dive.

Queer things happen in football. No one would claim that a small college could whip all the teams in the U. S. A., but if the small team gets over its roughest opponents and slams its easy ones, it is right up in front for the "national" title.

The strangest "big game" of the year is already brewing—the Chinese-Japanese annual game in San Francisco. Last year the Chinese came through with a victory by the field-goal method. This year's game ought to be a whiz, in view of the disturbances on the other side of the Pacific. The Japanese have engaged the services of a Warner system coach, and the Chinese are laying deep plans over their chow mein. If they can think up any play as mysterious as Chinese cooking, they have the game sewed up already.

RAIN THREATENS SERIES TILT Saints Drill On New Rockne Plays

REGULARS MAY START AGAINST TUSTIN FRIDAY

Another vigorous seminar with some of the great Rockne's football technique was on Santa Ana high school's football calendar today, with Coach "Tex" Oliver still critical of the lack of offensive charge of his backs and lineemen.

Although casual observers have been led to a conclusion that the Saints have assimilated their Notre Dame plays with surprising speed, and are further along than any recent local team at this time of year, Oliver is obviously dissatisfied. He is even considering some drastic changes in the first string line and backfield, if the so-called regulars don't begin to function as he believes they should.

The Saints worked on some new Rockne plays yesterday, ones calculated to snap backs "Red" Kidder and "Porky" Bell into the open, and it took the varsity line half an hour to open the holes Oliver thought should be there. And if the hole was there, the coach intimated that Kidder, Bell and his other backs were so slow getting to it that any first rate opposition would smear the play for a loss instead of letting a fleet back loose in a broken field.

"Toy" Blower, Francis Conrad Fred Bell and Kidder worked in the first string backfield. Paul Perinich and Earle Harris were on the ends, Willard Nee and Lawrence Lutz at tackle, Andy Utick and DeLass Hinesly at guard, Clarence Meacham at center.

Alex Wilson, quarter-backed the seconds, with Herb Meyer at full, and Duane Larrabee, Floyd Montgomery and Bob Mitchell at halfback. Tom Carlyle, Jimmie Lash and Walter Cleveland played end, "Bud" Boyle and Miles Norton tackle, Leroy DeSmet and Quimby Wallace guard, Earl Halderman center.

Despite his alleged dissatisfaction with the speed and timing of the offense, Oliver is expected to start his first string against Tustin at Tustin Friday in the first of Santa Ana's two week-end games.

Tustin's ability is relatively unknown because Coach Bill Cole has made no effort to keep a regular practice lineup through any of his practice games, preferring to hold them back for league games just around the corner. Santa Ana should have no trouble winning, of course, for the Saints are bigger and faster and boast much greater reserve strength. But Oliver is not likely to take chances on losing to the Orange league runners-up of 1930.

There is a possibility that Santa Ana will employ its regular two quarters against Tustin, and two quarters against the San Diego Army and Navy academy junior college here Saturday. Santa Ana's college here Saturday. Santa Ana's endurance, and it is really questionable right now whether the Oliver regulars can last 48 minutes at top speed, as many of them will be required to do Saturday-week when Santa Ana and San Diego collide at Poly field in the season's first conference game.

HUNTINGTON BEACH BEATS SAINT RESERVES

Slipping over a touchdown in the last few minutes of play, Coach Harry Sheue's Huntington Beach varsity gridgers scored a 6 to 0 win over Coach Bill Foote's Santa Ana high school reserves yesterday at Huntington Beach.

Made to stay well in its own territory until the fourth quarter, Huntington Beach, working several all night forward passes, carried the ball to Santa Ana's 4-yard line, where they scored on a line plunge.

The Saints showed more on defense than offense, although Jack Wright, halfback, shone offensively with a series of passes. On the line Ray Miller, Willette Round and Gilbert Yorba played well. Jack Mitchell, halfback, did well on pass defense.

The lineup: Clarence Patmore and Clarence Lewis, ends; Willette Round and Fred Devenney, tackles; Bill Rasmussen and Ray Miller, guards; Gilbert Yorba, center; Sammy Tucker, quarterback; Jack Mitchell and Jack Wright, halfbacks; and Horace Ender, fullback. Substitutions: Paul Hales for Ender, Harry Courtman for Round, Fred Covington for Miller, Ed Sparks for Devenney, Don McLaughlin for Lewis, Walter Henry for Patmore, Austin Joy for Yorba, Bill Comito for Wright.

THE QUARTERBACK QUESTION AT NOTRE DAME

MINNESOTA TO TEST STANFORD GRID STRENGTH Tustin "B" Team Beats Willard, 9-6

Nosing out Frances Willard junior high school, 9 to 6, in a practice scrimmage yesterday, the strong Tustin Class B football team demonstrated a smooth working offense.

Willard's defense was erratic and only an accurate passing attack spelled a score for them. Paul Swisshelm snagged a long pass and eluded the Farmer safety man.

Tustin scored a safety in the first play of the game when an attempted lateral to the Willard fullback sailed over his head and rolled behind the goal. Howard Tustin's halfback, scored the touchdown by smashing off tackle. With good interference he crossed the goal.

The lineup:

Willard (6) (9) Tustin
Cantu . . . LER. . . Richards
Davis . . . LTR. . . Young
Bell . . . LGR. . . Needam
De Smet . . . C. . . Deady
Tatum . . . RT. . . Hason
Ojeda . . . RBL. . . D. Young
Cone . . . Q. . . Parr
Beasley . . . LHR. . . Hatch
Marr . . . RHL. . . Howard
Swisshelm . . . F. . . Sears

The Gophers will have a decided edge on weight this year. Crisler's line averages approximately 194 pounds while the Indian forward will average approximately 187. A 7-pound disadvantage to the min in the line, will cause Warner's team plenty of trouble. The Minnesota backs average a little more than 179 pounds per man and the redskins average 175. Team averages are Minnesota—189, Stanford—182.

Nor is weight the only asset of the visitors. Minnesota has a fast charging and hard hitting line. In Captain Clarence Munn, the Gophers have one of the best guards in the country on both defense and offense. Munn does the kicking and makes a fine job of it. This big fellow, who weighs 217, boots them far and wide and last year helped greatly in keeping the Indians from scoring. That Stanford will not push the Minnesota tackles around is evident from the fact that the regulars—Marshall Wells and Pat Boland—weigh 202 and 216, respectively.

The 1931 Gophers are a much more dangerous offensive machine than the 1930 edition. Minnesota was playing only her third game under Crisler last season and now the players are thoroughly grounded in the former Chicagoan's system. Jack Manders, 205-pound fullback who looked great as a sophomore last season, has developed so fast that the Middle West is hailing him as a second Bronko Nagurski. Nagurski was one of the greatest football players in Minnesota history. Manders is a powerful line backer and blocker.

For speed threats, the Gophers have Pete Somers and Kenneth MacDougall, quarterbacks; and Walter Hass and Myron Ubi, halfbacks. Quentin Burdick is a great blocking back who plays an important part in the Gophers' attack. Somers, Ubi and MacDougall shone brilliantly in Minnesota's 20-0 victory over the powerful Oklahoma Aggies last Saturday.

The Minnesota party left Minneapolis immediately after the Aggie game and arrived in Oakland yesterday.

Benny Leonard scored his "knockout" in the manner made famous—or infamous, if you will—by Primo Carnera. The spectators, who sat in stunned silence as the once unhittable Leonard had his face peppered by an opponent who wouldn't have been considered worthy of carrying the gloves of the Leonard of a decade ago, greeted Silvers' "dive" with boos and catcalls, and for the first time in his career Leonard was hooted as he left the ring.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—(UP)—Even though Benny Leonard remained out of the ring for seven years, he apparently kept in close enough touch with boxing to learn modern practices.

Benny no longer is the shifting shadow who ruled the lightweight class from 1917 until he retired undefeated—and independently wealthy—in 1924. Instead, the Leonard who made his "comeback" debut last night with a two-round "knockout" over Pal Silvers of Brooklyn is a pudgy, slow-footed old man of 35, making a desperate effort to recoup the fortune lost in stock speculation.

Benny scored his "knockout" in the manner made famous—or infamous, if you will—by Primo Carnera. ## Inoculate 50 Gridders At Santa Rosa

SANTA ROSA, Oct. 7.—(UP)—One member of the Santa Rosa high school football team was near death today and 50 other players threatened with typhoid fever as the result of drinking water from a contaminated bucket.

Rollo Santini, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Santini, a sophomore and star tackle on the team, is the dying boy.

He became ill a week ago after playing the first game of the season, and was in a critical condition in a Santa Rosa hospital today.

Fifty other players who drank from the same bucket were inoculated with typhoid serum by E. J. Helgren, county health commissioner, at the request of the school nurse, who feared an epidemic among the athletes.

CHANGES LOOM IN DON LINEUP AT LONG BEACH

Assuring his men that he will model his starting lineup against Long Beach Saturday by performances made in practice this week, Coach Bill Cook today divided his Santa Ana junior college gridmen, keeping his more consistent players for dummy scrimmages and sending the second group to scrimmage with Coach "Tex" Oliver's Saints on East Poly field.

Several members of the Don squad have been "digging in" this week, and should they continue to display outstanding qualities, changes in Santa Ana's regular lineup are not only possible but probable. One of these players is George Berry, left end, who has played heads-up half every time Cook has used him. Berry will give Solon Beall, who has started the three practice games at end, a run for his money.

Another wing candidate who is giving Lucius Conkey a battle for the right end post is Hubert Armstrong, former University of California Frosh lineman. Armstrong outweighs all end candidates and is an extremely good pass receiver. It was Armstrong who figured in nose receptions and interceptions when the Dons met Chaffey, the U. S. C. Frosh, and Riverside.

There has not been a game during which he has failed to intercept at least one opponent's throw. While Captain Mike Santa Cruz and Harry Clayton, who loom as the conference's outstanding tackles, were playing on offense last night, Cook had "Wit" Johnson and Clifford Bates on defense.

Johnson has the makings of a real tackle and will press Clayton before the season is over. At any rate he will make a good relief man.

Paul Jungkeit was complimentary several times during yesterday's practice on his smearing defense for the majority of the drill. Jungkeit was instrumental in checking the advance of the Don backs several times. Present indications are that Rittner and Al Kluthe will open the fireworks at guard Saturday, but Jungkeit may have something to say in the matter. Laurence Rossiter teamed with Jungkeit at guard on defense and then switched to offense, where he worked with Rittner.

Causing the most grief at the present time is the fact that the Don quarterback, especially Joe Crafts and Leslie Fulson, are weak on passes. They have little trouble in throwing 'em. In fact, Crafts is one of the most accurate passers on the team. The trouble lies in their difficulty to see the man in the open. Handicapped by size, both quarterbacks being the smallest men on the squad, Fulson and Crafts are too anxious to

CONCEDE CARDS PITCHING EDGE FOR 5TH GAME

SHIBE PARK, PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7.—(UP)—Under heavily overcast skies, the Philadelphia Athletics and St. Louis Cardinals met today for the fifth game of the 1931 world series baseball championship.

At 11 o'clock, one and a half hours before game time, a moderate rainstorm began.

The rain continued spasmodically for an hour. Then the sun broke through the clouds and the Athletics went out for their preliminary batting and fielding practices.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7.—(UP)—Fighting desperately for victory in the all-important game of the 1931 championship, the St. Louis Cardinals and Philadelphia Athletics met in the fifth game of the world series today.

With honors even at two triumphs apiece, these perfectly matched foemen sought to out-do each other in the game which appears to be the decisive battle of the current series.

The advantage for today's game, at least, was all in favor of the red-shirted Cardinals. Street had the advantage of a greater selectivity in the matter of pitchers.

Coming into the fifth game, Street is able to pitch Hallahan, fully rested after his grand victory of last Friday.

Mack, however, cannot pitch either of his aces. Grove pitched Monday and Earnshaw only yesterday, so he has to choose from the lesser lights of his staff. Maybe he will name "Rube" Walberg and maybe it will be Waite Hoyt, baseball's "bad boy." Then there are those fans who believe Mack will not choose either. If he doesn't, he will have to select a pitcher from among Hank McDonald, a youngster with a lot of promise; Leroy Mahaffey, who has had a successful season, and Eddie Rommel, the knuckle ball artist.

Second-guessing on the Cards' possibilities results in choosing young Paul Derringer, who pitched creditably but losing ball in the first game of the current championship. That game, by the way, was Derringer's series baptism, and, with the experience gained, he should be better in his second time out. He went in as relief pitcher in the last inning of yesterday's game, his nose in a sling after an abscess had been removed, and pitched creditably.

MOHLER IS MAILED 'POISON' LETTERS

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 7.—(UP)—Orv Mohler, University of Southern California quarterback, was the recipient of a series of "poison pen" letters, which also were directed to Coach Howard Jones, Mohler revealed today.

The letters were delivered over a course of several months but stopped when Mohler "called" the person he thought had been their writer, he added.

The missives were designed to cast suspicion on Mohler's life outside the college, accusing him of breaking training, banking large sums of money and engaging in brawls.

Police and federal officers investigated the notes, Mohler said.

WEIGHT BUILDER

Matt Bullock, varsity trainer for University of Illinois athletic squads, has compiled figures which show that the average weight gained by football players is five pounds for each year of competition.

get rid of the ball and seem to be afraid to fade back until they can spot the man designated to catch the pass. This fault can be overcome easily, provided the two learn to drop back into their own territory, Cook believes.

DID YOU KNOW THAT— Dan O'Leary, 35, is still walking six times around the bases in five minutes. . . . Jim Bottomley set a record this year for runs driven in when he batted an even dozen tallies across the plate in a game with Brooklyn. . . . The outstanding accomplishment for 1931 by Eric ("Boob") McNair of the A's was a home run off Wes Ferrell that won a ball game. . . . Twenty Grand, Mate and Sam Beau are to meet Thursday in the Hawthorne Gold Cup. . . . Twenty Grand will be favored, but Sam Beau likes to run when it's a mite chilly. . . . With the re-purchase of Harley Boss, the Senators have three first basemen for 1932.

BASEBALL RESPONDS

With the baseball season ended and football about to begin, it cannot be said that organized baseball did not respond to the request for relief of the unemployed.

Eleven out of the 16 major league clubs have responded to the call. The Giants, Yankees, Robins, Cardinals, Browns, Braves, Red Sox, Athletics, Phils, Cubs and White Sox have played for the sake of charity. Nearly $200,000 was realized in this way. That is not a staggering sum, but it helps—and shows that the game is grateful to those who help to support it.

NO MORE SQUASH

Coach "Rip" Miller at Annapolis has banned squash for his assistants, two of whom happen to be former Notre Dame men—Christy Flanagan and Johnny "One-Ply" O'Brien. The other day Flanagan reported at the football field with his head swathed in bandages, as the result of being smacked by a squash racket in the hands of a gentleman named "Plug" Hughes.

This recalls a story that Rockne told once about hockey at Notre Dame. They used to play the game at South Bend but abandoned it after several years' trial.

Rock's version of the reason for hockey's abandonment was "you can't use an Irishman in a game that puts a stick in his hands."

NO MOVIES

This column may seem to be a bit Rockne-ish at times, but Rock's wit and sagacity left a memory that seems all the brighter now that he is gone. Thus the recent action of Harvard in barring motion picture cameras from the stadium during the games at once brought a recollection of Rockne. He used to explain with almost painful regard for details the plays his boys used at Notre Dame. These would be shown to coaches from all over

INDUSTRIAL SHOW IN ANAHEIM IS SUCCESS

Special From Anaheim

The second day of the first annual Industrial Week display in Anaheim which is located at 132 East Center street in a gaily decorated building, attracted even more people to view the numerous displays than even on the opening day of the event, according to George Reid, secretary of the chamber of commerce.

Yesterday the Turbine Engineering company and the Segstrom Soap company had completed installation of their comprehensive exhibits in the display. The exhibit of the Turbine company attracted a great deal of attention with the pump which was installed which automatically pumped water from a tank and was in turn taken back again to another tank at specified intervals. The company plans to show a larger selection of pumps at various times during the week, it was said.

Attendance this morning at the exhibit indicated that another large crowd would visit the display room today. The interest taken in the affair has caused those in charge of it to predict that it would become an annual affair through the successful conclusion of this first attempt.

The affair is sponsored by the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce and the Merchants and Manufacturers association, an auxiliary organization of the chamber of commerce.

OVER HALF OF FUNDS RAISED IN ARMY DRIVE

Special From Anaheim

More than half of the fund set as the goal for the annual Salvation Army drive now in progress has been donated by Anaheim citizens, it was revealed today by Oscar Renner, member of the advisory committee. The goal has been set for $3000 this year and to date about $1800 has been secured.

Volunteer workers have combed the business district of the city and have recently begun extending the campaign into the residential district under the direction of Salvation Army officers. Any resident of Anaheim or vicinity who wishes to aid in the worthy project is asked to take their donations to William Dolan at the First National bank.

Mr. Dolan is the official treasurer for the funds acquired by the campaign.

Louis Hoskins is in charge of the drive for funds and is optimistic in predicting an early end to the campaign. The drive is expected to be wound up by October 20. Anaheim service clubs are expected to aid in the drive, either by direct donations or donations by members. Drives in Anaheim in past years have always met with a hearty response and no trouble has been found in collecting the needed money.

Preparations are being made by officials of the Salvation Army to open quarters for the care of unemployed and destitute men who are expected to drift through the city during the winter months, according to Envoy B. D. Rea, who is in Anaheim often recently in connection with the drive.

Twenty beds have been donated by the Standard Oil company. The company has also donated the mattresses and some cooking utensils, but bedding is needed badly in order to fully furnish the quarters that are expected to be established in Anaheim.

The Salvation Army, during the past year has given needy persons and families of Anaheim some 1500 garments and shoes. They have given groceries to 85 families and a large number of meals to transient men.

Chest Workers Start Canvass For Fund Today

ENTHUSIASTIC RESPONSE MET AT KICK-OFF

Team workers in the Santa Ana Community Chest drive today began the drive toward the $48,340 goal that has been set as this year's quota for financing activities of member agencies, following a mass meeting of civic leaders and team members last night at the American Legion hall for the "Kick-off". Inspiring addresses sent the 382 workers out on the drive determined to secure the quota by next Monday noon, making unnecessary an extension of the campaign.

The report that the central committee had raised $700 more at this time than was secured in last year's drive was received with enthusiasm.

Roy H. Tolleson, campaign director, set the immediate objective for the 30 teams at $500 each by tomorrow noon when the first report meeting of the workers is to be held in the American Legion hall. Effect of the present depression in reducing pledges for the Community Chest was minimized by speakers who pointed out that demands for relief from agencies in the chest would be greater than ever before.

Issues Challenge
Against the destructive forces of communism and atheism, the strength of the nation is called now as never before. It was asserted by Dr. F. N. Willis, social and religious leader, in the principal address of the evening. He challenged the team workers to prove that this is no decadent civilization.

"Dangerous winds are blowing through the world," it was declared by Dr. Willis in the inspirational address of the evening. "These are the worst days ever seen, due to pain, hunger, suffering. We face the opportunity to prove that this is no decadent civilization. Such organizations as these in the Community Chest furnish the foundation for a recognition of spiritual values."

"If we are to experience the new day when spiritual values are paramount, we must build into the chest the social spirit of sympathy, helpfulness and unselfishness," Dr. Willis concluded.

Riley Presides
Harry D. Riley, general campaign chairman presided over the meeting. Ladies of the Legion auxiliary served dinner. Songs were given by the Santa Ana Girl Reserves. The managers of the organizations in the chest were introduced. For the Boy Scouts, Clyde Files, standing on his chair before the audience explained what the Boy Scout movement meant to several hundred boys in Santa Ana.

Brief remarks were made by Ed. McFadden, chairman of the board of directors of the chest organization, and by Mrs. Minnie Holmes, chairman of the women's division. McFadden pointed out that the chest organization was a solely financial organization which was able to further character building and relief work through the agencies receiving their funds through the chest.

Makes Explanation
He explained that the Catholic charities were not admitted to the chest this year for "purely financial reasons." After a 10 day investigation by committee, it was deemed inadvisable to add other agencies to the chest this year when times are so hard, he said.

Others who spoke included Judge J. B. Tucker, Sam Hurwitz and Orlin Robertson.

Musical selections were given by Professor Caesar Clafoni, trombone, accompanied on the piano by Miss Alline Lair. Community singing was led by Leon Eckles, with E. M. "Sunny" Sundquist, playing the piano. The American Legion Drum and Bugle corps, led by Eddy Couron, presented a surprise number when they marched into the hall and played three selections, as part of the demonstration on downtown streets during the evening.

PERMIT VALUES FOR MONTH HIT $58,899 TOTAL

Building permits for September in Santa Ana showed a substantial increase over August, with a total of 75 permits issued for $58,899. In August there were 67 permits issued for $24,038.

Building permits for September fell far short of the September record of 1930, however, because last year for the ninth month there were 101 permits issued for $367,766.

For the first nine months of the year there have been 512 permits issued for $744,724, as compared with 657 permits issued during the first nine months of 1930, for a total of $1,551,042, reports in Building Inspector Sam Preble's office reveal.

Nominate New Auxiliary Heads

GARDEN GROVE, Oct. 6. — Nomination of officers for the ensuing year was held at the regular meeting of the American Legion auxiliary. The president and historian are to be elected at the next meeting. Those nominated were Mrs. Olive Estep, first vice-president; Mrs. Ray Long, second vice-president; Mrs. Marion McIntosh, secretary; treasurer, Mrs. Eula Mumby, marshal; Mrs. A. E. Fritcher, sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. Watson, chaplain.

Announcement was made of the card party to be held in the Legion hall Friday evening. Plans were discussed for the "hard-times" party and dance to be held October 29.

Court Notes

A contest between parents over custody of their children has resulted in an order by the superior court placing the youngsters temporarily in a certified home. The court tilt was precipitated by a petition filed by Hope Brewer, mother, asking that Richard Brewer, father, be compelled to bring the children into court for the hearing. Mrs. Brewer claimed her husband was concealing the children somewhere in Orange county. Brewer, in turn, claimed that Mrs. Brewer had deserted them.

Anna C. Launer has brought suit against Andrew F. and Katherine Manz, asking judgment for $3500 alleged to be due on a promissory note.

A complaint in eminent domain for condemnation of property needed for widening the state highway north of Fullerton has been filed by the people of the state of California against Benjamin W. Elliott.

SAYS STUDENTS HOLD KEY TO WORLD PEACE

Presenting a dramatic urge for international good feeling, which he declared was the ultimate goal of education, Dr. Ali Kuli Khan, former Persian ambassador at Washington during Taft's and Roosevelt's administrations, spoke yesterday before the assembled students and faculty of Santa Ana Junior college in the high school auditorium on "Persia, the Past and Present."

Dr. Khan declared that the purpose of ambassadors, statesmen, and diplomats was, according to governmental law, to promote good feeling and friendliness between nations, but of recent years educational ties have become so strong that with the young people rests the real solution of the problem, and that present day universities all over the world have a method of their own of accomplishing this end that would put diplomats in the shadow.

A number of interesting points concerning the history and government of Persia were brought out by Dr. Khan, who told of the rapid progress being made by that country to keep up with the civilization of other nations. They now have their own aviation department, he said, and although small in comparison to that of other countries, it is extremely efficient. The Persian system of finance is also very satisfactory and complete, Dr. Khan said, and Persia has probably been least affected by the economic strife that has enveloped the world in recent years.

Besides his period of ambassadorship in Washington, Dr. Khan was the Persian delegate to the Versailles Peace conference in 1919 and ambassador to Constantinople in 1921. Since 1924 he has been on a leave of absence in the United States. At present he is engaged in private business in Laguna Beach.

PAGING MR. PUBLIC

START DRIVE TO PROTECT BIKE RIDERS

A concentrated effort to cut down the number of automobile-bicycle accidents in Santa Ana was launched today by the Santa Ana police department, with an announcement that boys riding bicycles at night must equip their wheels with lights.

Numerous complaints have been received by the police department during the past several weeks about boys riding bicycles at night with no light and a number of accidents have been caused, it was said, because the motorists could not see the youths on the bicycles.

"It may be necessary to arrest several boys, if the practice is continued," Chief of Police Howard declared. "There is a law against using a bicycle at night without the aid of lights and, in order to protect the lives of these boys, it may be necessary to arrest them. If the police department starts to make arrests, we will see to it that the boys are fined when brought into court, if the law can be so applied," Howard declared.

Several days ago a motorist suffered a damage of $15 to his automobile when a bicycle crashed into it, injuring the rider. There was no damage to the bicycle, however, it was reported.

SAYS NOW IS TIME TO TAKE AID TO OTHERS

Speaking before members of the Men's Community Bible class at one of the popular stag suppers which is staged several times each year by that organization, the Rev. U. E. Harding, pastor of the Santa Ana Church of the Nazarene, last night sounded a call for more faith and work in carrying the message of Jesus to the community.

The pastor, in his convincing talk, interspersed with shafts of wit and wisdom which brought a ready response on the part of his audience, stressed the need of co-operation in community endeavor and urged a united response in living religion.

"One thing that is wrong with us today," he asserted, "is that too many of us are ashamed of our religion and try to hide it. We run races in buying cars and building churches and homes and monuments, but forget to run races with each other in living our religion."

"A cause of this depression is that we have been living too fast and too high. Most of us profess to be wealthier than we are, and too many feel that we can get along without religion."

"At this time people need help and advice and a word of cheer, and it is up to us to spread this around. We need more of the religion of Jesus in our homes and businesses and lives. We must organize and give and take as necessary to get people in touch with Jesus. He always puts spiritual things first."

During his address, which was made in the banquet room of the educational building at the First Christian church, the Rev. Mr.

Harding paid a glowing tribute to the motives, character and value of The Register, which he declared was the fairest, the most open to civic righteousness and to the churches of the community and the things for which they stood, that he had ever seen anywhere.

"It is a fine, clean paper, fit to go into the homes, and I could lay it on my church table and take subscriptions for it along with my church paper without any compunctions," he asserted. His remarks were greeted with a hearty round of applause.

E. A. Cox, class president, presided at the meeting and announced that plans were being considered for a similar affair within the next few months. Judge James L. Allen of the Orange county superior court, was a guest at the dinner.

Music for the occasion was presented by the regular class orchestra under the direction of James Ingham. The class meets every Sunday morning under the direction of James Ingham. The class meets every Sunday morning at 9:30 a. m. and invites the attendance of all men who are not affiliated with other Bible classes in the city. The Rev. S. Buchanan, pastor of the first Christian church, is teacher of the class.

Eat More "Root" Vegetables

Eat more "root" vegetables if you would live reasonably and get all the health due you from the food you eat. Carrots are one of the root vegetables so good for us, but so hard to get the family to eat. I don't wonder, though. Most any family will strike if they get carrots once a week, served in one style, and that one, punk! Try them this way for a change. Use the youngest looking carrots you can get. Scrape off the skin and cut lengthwise, in quarters. Lay them in a sauce pan large enough to permit placing them flat. Pour over them one-half cup of hot water, three tablespoons butter in bits, salt and pepper, a tiny pinch of sugar and a tablespoon of chopped parsley. Bring the kettle to the boil, then cover closely, tuck a folded towel over the kettle lid to keep in steam, lower the heat to simmer and cook 25 minutes. Uncover the kettle and cook until the liquid is almost evaporated, then shake in a little fresh parsley and a squeeze of lemon. This last is optional, may be you'd better try it first, to be sure everyone likes the little acid tang.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Mince Francaise
2 cups cold boiled potato
2 cups cooked chopped meat
2 cups chopped green tomato
1 onion, minced
Salt and pepper, with cayenne
2 eggs mixed with
1 cup thin cream or top milk
1 tablespoon butter

I'll admit that when you read this you'll be inclined to say that I must be crazy to mix up such a mess as this and call it food. But it is good for all its funny look. Properly cooked, it comes to table as a sort of omelette hash.

Let's see about the meat first of all: scraps of roast lamb, pot-roast, or even meat left from making beef broth can be used if you add a little more butter to the hash. Run both meat and potatoes through the food chopper, the onion also. Prepare the tomatoes, chop fine and saute in the skillet with a little butter. When they are soft add the ground-up meat and potato, mix well, season, and let slowly heat through, turning a few times as the under surface browns. Just before the hash is ready to take up, turn the beaten eggs mixed with the thin cream over the hash, cutting down into the hash with a knife to allow the omelette mixture to run through the hash. A hot oven for a few minutes helps out, then turn the hash onto a platter, garnish with butter and chopped parsley.

For a main dish this fills the bill for most families. Serve a good salad with it, a salad with flavor and crispness. How about apple-celery-Walnut salad on lettuce? There are 2450 calories in this recipe, with portions for six.

Fifty cent dinners for four, the subject of the leaflet offering for this week, has some desserts you will just love to make, but the only way in which you can possibly get these recipes is to send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope with a request for a Free copy of the leaflet. Will you do that?

Thursday, we'll make a Cream of salmon soup, which is almost a whole meal in a soup dish, or a very swanky dinner party soup when you serve it in your best new soup cups.

Hallow'en Motif Used At Social Service Club Affair

Another of their enjoyable parties was held Monday night by members of the Y. I. Social Service club, who were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Ashen in their home, 1502 French street. The hostess had planned an attractive Hallow'en motif for all appointments.

Tables were arranged for bridge games, and a pleasant evening followed. Prizes were won by Mrs. Clyde Taylor and Mrs. A. L. Steward. During the interval which followed, Mrs. Ashen served an appetizing refreshment menu with the assistance of her two daughters, the Misses Rosemary and Bernadine Ashen. The Hallow'en theme used at this time proved especially attractive.

Those sharing the affair with Mr. and Mrs. Ashen and the Misses Rosemary and Bernadine Ashen were Messrs and Mesdames J. P. Murphy, William Strain, Robert Sandon, P. C. Dietler, Emil Wetzel, E. J. Vosskuhler, G. S. Markel, Ray Helm, B. L. Halderman, Herbert Carter, Julius Meyer, Herbert Huelskamp, and Walter J. Markel, Mrs. Clyde Taylor and Mrs. A. L. Steward.

Mr. and Mrs. Dietler will be hosts at the next meeting, to be held in November.

Many Visitors Attend Harbor Yacht Club Trophy Dinner

Handsome sterling silver plates with the Newport Harbor Yacht club insignia enameled in colors, formed the trophies for 1931, whose award to victors in the summer series of racing events made a gala occasion at the clubhouse Saturday evening.

Dinner at 6:30 o'clock followed an afternoon of snowbird racing for which the Southern California Bird Class association stood sponsor. Two craft entered the race, which was from San Pedro to the Newport Harbor Yacht club. The boats were the Swallow and the Falcon, with the former boat winning by ten minutes and securing one of the silver plates.

Dancing followed the dinner, and among Yacht club members dining in the clubhouse and remaining for the trophy awards and the dancing, were Commodore Al Rogers and his mother, Mrs. Robert E. ## HER SECOND FILM HERE

Tallulah Bankhead will be seen in her second film, "My Sin," starting today at the Fox West Coast theater. She is supported by Fredric March.

'MY SIN' OPENS AT WEST COAST THEATER TODAY

"My Sin," a thrilling social drama, will be presented at the Fox West Coast theater starting today.

"My Sin" tells the story of the redemption of two human derelicts almost submerged, one through wild living, the other by the touch of remorseless circumstance. Yet, character remains — and through the influence of an understanding love their broken lives are mended.

Tallulah Bankhead and Fredric March, co-stars of great talent and versatility, carry the burden of the story, supported by a cast of superb artists of reputation on the stage.

The picture opens with a Panama setting. March, shabby and unshaven, portrays, "Dick Grady." He resents being called a beggar by a former acquaintance whom he asks for money. He meets "Carlotta," portrayed by Bankhead, and interest develops, and he graphically portrayed and vividly dramatized. A man is murdered and "Carlotta" is held for the crime and "Grady," a lawyer, defends her.

Then for both "Carlotta Ann Trevor" and "Dick Grady" life starts over again and they climb all the way back.

ARLISS COMES TO SANTA ANA ON THURSDAY

George Arliss, who will be seen at the Fox Broadway theater starting tomorrow in Warner Bros. "Alexander Hamilton" began his stage career more than forty years ago, at which time as a silent supernumerary he toured the English provinces in a lurid melodrama, called "Saved from the Sea."

"Alexander Hamilton" which Mr. Arliss wrote in collaboration with Mary Hamilton, and which was a great success on the stage fourteen years presents rather the man Hamilton, than the financial genius who established the credit of the new country, wrote its Constitution and became the first Secretary of the Treasury.

The incident about which the thrilling drama is built is Hamilton's strange infatuation for the alluring adventurous Mary Reynolds.

Fullerton Unemployed To Get Hillcrest Park Jobs

F. TREADWELL APPOINTED ON CITY COUNCIL

FULLERTON, Oct. 7.—All funds raised from contributions made by the city employees for the purpose of aiding the local unemployment situation will be used in beautifying Hillcrest park, it was decided at the bi-monthly meeting of the city council last night.

City Engineer Thorpe presented a tentative plan to the council for its consideration, in which he called attention to needed work that could be done in the park to good advantage at this time. The planting of more lawn in several sections, the extension of a new street at the south boundary of the park and the construction and widening of better roads were some of his suggestions which met with approval. It is planned to put on four additional men immediately at a pay of $4 a day, to add to this number as the work and funds warrant, and use a plan of staggering the work whereby the greatest number of men will be given work.

Councilman J. S. Elder, who is a member of the community relief committee, along with Mrs. Elizabeth McFadden, city nurse, and Harry May, secretary of the chamber of commerce, gave a brief report of the meeting of this committee. He commented on the fact that only 50 of the original 150 who had registered as needing work had re-registered. He said that the city would choose its workers from the chamber of commerce list of unemployed.

Frank Treadwell was selected as a member of the city council to fill the vacancy left by the recent death of A. R. Kriehbaum. Treadwell has been a resident of Fullerton for many years and is well known in this city. He is in business here.

Cars must park parallel along Spadra road from the Pacific Electric railway viaduct to Santa Fe avenue as soon as ordinance No. 889 becomes a law. The first reading was given last night. This new parking arrangement will provide four lanes of traffic instead of two, as at present, and will tend to relieve the usual congestion on Spadra road, which is also a part of the state highway, on traffic congestion days. The police were given authority to provide special 15-minute parking zones.

A continuance for two weeks was given for the purpose of considering improvement district No. 1 ordinance, which deals with the securing of the right-of-way for the state highway north to the city limits of Fullerton.

An invitation was extended members of the city council to ride in the Odd Fellows' parade Thursday afternoon, which will be held here in connection with the state encampment. This was accepted by the trustees.

A petition was presented by property owners living on Central avenue asking for relief from the parking of cars all day by high school students on this street. No action was taken in this regard.

A communication from the Metropolitan Water district was received in which a statement was given that Fullerton could make its payment of $9026.14 at this time instead of in February, 1932, if it so desired, and be allowed three per cent for the money during this time. This matter was referred to the finance committee for its consideration.

Difficulties encountered from some of the spray men who are using city water for spraying citrus groves was discussed. Although a small charge is made for the use of city water, it was brought out that some damage had resulted and that it might be advisable to restrict these men to getting water from certain city hydrants which would be provided with special nozzles.

COTTON NAMED TO AID STATE IN PARK WORK

SAN CLEMENTE, Oct. 7.—The city council has appointed Hamilton H. Cotton to confer with the state park board to ascertain when work can be started on improving the newly acquired state park here. The state will construct bath houses on the site of beach, will landscape the 100 acres and will place the land and beach in shape to take care of the thousands expected to make the park site here their vacation headquarters next year.

With the 100 acres of land besides the 6,000 feet of beach, it will be possible to have a park playground as well as a beach playground. Engineers say that the land is easily convertible into a pleasure ground. Baseball grounds can be laid out, tennis courts, playgrounds for the young, trees set out, roads built, buildings erected to make the San Clemente park the most popular in the beach state park chain.

It is the only state park in Orange county made possible by the $5,000,000 bond issue passed at the last election. Civic leaders had to wage a long war to secure the public enterprise for the county.

When the county refused to assist the state in the purchase of the land, civic heads of San Clemente and Southern California raised $200,000, which with the state's $200,000 was used to purchase the property on which a valuation had been set by state land appraisers at $400,000.

Regulars May Start Against Tustin Friday

Hobbs Adams made in preparing his squad for Saturday's Rose Bowl game with Pasadena high school.

Hall has not been able to hit his stride this year, turning in a disappointing performance last Saturday when the Hillers turned back Redondo, but Adams believes that once he is back in his old position he will be able to find himself again. Hall has been All-County Prep league guard for two years running.

Gerard Burchard, who had been at guard, now holds down Hall's tackle berth and Lorenzo Ray, alternative but fiery, has replaced big Ed Giddings at center. A change also was made in the backfield, Wynne being shifted from quarter to outside halfback on the first string, leaving Mushy Pollock at quarter, Gentles, full, and Dakes, inside half.

The second string half-backing department is composed of Westcott, quarter; Bostrom, fullback; Smith, inside half, and Callison, outside half. Both Dakes and Smith are facing the possibility of being replaced by a former Point Loma high school student, Arreano, a made over center. He showed up well yesterday when the Hillers engaged in tackling, blocking and dummy scrimmage.

Today Adams will drive the Cavemen through a long scrimmage to give him a chance to see how the alterations have worked out.

Regulars May Start Against Tustin Friday

Hobbs Adams made in preparing his squad for Saturday's Rose Bowl game with Pasadena high school.

Hall has not been able to hit his stride this year, turning in a disappointing performance last Saturday when the Hillers turned back Redondo, but Adams believes that once he is back in his old position he will be able to find himself again. Hall has been All-County Prep league guard for two years running.

Gerard Burchard, who had been at guard, now holds down Hall's tackle berth and Lorenzo Ray, alternative but fiery, has replaced big Ed Giddings at center. A change also was made in the backfield, Wynne being shifted from quarter to outside halfback on the first string, leaving Mushy Pollock at quarter, Gentles, full, and Dakes, inside half.

The second string half-backing department is composed of Westcott, quarter; Bostrom, fullback; Smith, inside half, and Callison, outside half. Both Dakes and Smith are facing the possibility of being replaced by a former Point Loma high school student, Arreano, a made over center. He showed up well yesterday when the Hillers engaged in tackling, blocking and dummy scrimmage.

Today Adams will drive the Cavemen through a long scrimmage to give him a chance to see how the alterations have worked out.

FIVE BILLION DOLLARS A DAY

About five billions of dollars were added to paper values at least, by the rise in the Wall street market yesterday. And that has the corresponding effect on the minds of millions of people over the country, for while some may say it is only on paper, yet by the same token, the loss of five billions is only on paper. But it is grim reality to the one who must meet obligations at the bank, which have been protected by collateral in the form of listed stock.

Today five billions of dollars of obligations could be paid off which could not have been done yesterday by the same stock. Undoubtedly, the real investors, as well as the operators, were very favorably affected by the program laid before the White House conference, proposing a new credit organization which would liberalize the rediscount provisions of the Federal Reserve system.

It is proposed to organize a company of $500,000,000, with great discretionary powers, to loan on rediscount paper. It amounts to adding to the medium of exchange, which has been seriously affected through stringent credits, as well as through thousands of foolish people withdrawing money from banks and putting it in safety deposit boxes or hiding it elsewhere. This program undoubtedly will help. It has already helped, and as business proceeds, the timid creatures who have been hiding their money will bring it forth and prosperity's wheels will turn with even greater celerity.

Incidentally, one of the most foolish things for the people to do is, as a result of a panicky feeling, to withdraw money which they themselves are not needing out of the vaults of the bank, where it might be used by those who do need it, and place it away where it becomes as useless as a heap of ashes. This was done by these people, on account of the fear of a catastrophe, which this very action did more to endanger than any other act of men.

The stock market today is showing greater strength, and it will not be long before this money in hiding will be seeking opportunity for investment. The country, of course, has had plenty of money, but with the condition of the public mind, even the banks which have it, are fearful of loaning it to the extent of handicapping them in case the public, through their timidity, became over anxious. Frankly, the situation from almost every angle looks more hopeful today than any day for months.

Divorce is worse than polygamy, says an English bishop. But not half so expensive.

PROGRAMS AND INTELLIGENCE

Mr. H. G. Wells has worked out a program for world rehabilitation and the restoration of prosperity. He would put the world's money under an international currency board. He would have world control of speculation and international banking, and a world board of health and one of labor. He said by so doing, he would prevent child laborers of Egypt from holding down the standard of living of workers in Lancashire. He said in a few years the world would see the benefit.

The real difficulty that Mr. Wells would face with his program would be to convince the people sufficiently well to have it undertaken. One of our difficulties is that we have too many thinkers who have programs, and leaders who are so busy endeavoring to get their programs over that they haven't time to consider another man's.

In the kind of condition with which we are confronted in the world, when above all things some kind of a program is needed, and any program would be better than no program, it is almost unfortunate that literacy is so high, for if there were only one capable man and the rest of us simply dumb enough to be followers, he could frame up a program on which we would unite. Not to say by any means that all the Russians are dumb, but enough of them are dumb to enable the comparatively few leaders to weld the nation into a united organization.

Was it a great religious leader who declared that "ignorance is the mother of devotion"? The secret of certain religious leaderships can here be found. To some extent ignorance, that would amount to a confidence in leadership, might help in economic rehabilitation. We are not arguing here for illiteracy. Rather would we suggest that the intelligent people of our most progressive democracies must reach the conclusion that they will have to forego some of their own opinions and elements of independence in order to work out some things for the common good.

FACING FAILURE

Mahatma Gandhi appears to be approaching a declaration that the Indian Round Table conference at London has failed. And, most unfortunate, for him and for India, unless things change, the blame will be placed upon India's delegates themselves.

The Hindu and Moslem contingents are differing among themselves to such an extent that it looks, according to the dispatches, as though the onus of the failure will be not upon Great Britain, but upon the division in the ranks of India. If this be true, Gandhi is the man who will undoubtedly frankly say so. He has never attempted to side-step the facts. He has faced them valiantly and if he must go back to India and record failure because of this, he will probably spend the next period of his life in bringing the Hindus and Moslems to a clearer, more amicable and tolerant understanding.

It may be well for Gandhi and the Indian delegates that an election is on, as the government leaders will be able to suggest that they can take this time to thresh out their Indian differences and continue negotiations after the general elections. It would amount to an international disaster for the Indian Round Table conference to fail in accomplishing real peace for India. It would only be surpassed in magnitude as a catastrophe with the failure of the disarmament conference next February.

There's at least one advantage in being a genius. You can go without a haircut without comment.

NEW STANDARD NEEDED

Miss Mary Elizabeth Pidgeon of the Women's Bureau of the United States government has been studying the situation of working women. She has found that a new standard is badly needed. Estimates of the working woman's situation are based on the assumption that she has no one but herself to support and that she has no intention of continuing with her job more than a few years.

Miss Pidgeon has found in many cases the working woman is the family breadwinner. And in an increasing number of cases she expects to stick to her job most of her life. In the majority of the 11,000 cases recently studied by the Women's Bureau the yearly incomes were too low for adequate living.

NOW THAT'S SETTLED

The Governor of Oklahoma, "Alfalfa Bill," stood on his head yesterday to prove to reporters that he was capable of such a stunt. We are surprised.

We had not believed that anyone doubted that Governor Murray not only could, but frequently did stand on his head.

"He Was a Good Horse"

New York Times

Nothing in the animal kingdom is more appealing than a broken-down thoroughbred between traces in his old age. Many have wept over "Black Beauty." But he never was a race-horse. Prospero Boy was, and the story of his last race is told by George S. Best in a San Diego newspaper.

In the early days of the Cofrotho race-track in Mexico Prospero Boy had been known as a horse which "liked to be out in front." When advancing years touched his speed, the brown gelding was sold to a small rancher in the Otay Valley. Between rickety shafts, with patched harness on his back, Prospero Boy was standing in front of the rancher's shack when he heard the notes of a bugle on a hillside a hundred yards away where a Boy Scout troop was encamped.

To him the barrier went down again, and away at a gallop went Prospero Boy, his harness parting behind him. The scoutmaster thought it was a runaway. Horsemen know better. The old gelding tore along until his heart gave way and he crashed into a clump of trees and broke his neck. They said a prayer over Prospero Boy, and the rancher, who stood by in tears, asked the scoutmaster to add the turf's highest praise: "He was a good horse."

The Serpents in the Case

San Francisco Chronicle

When, after the death of a Connecticut man, six widows turned up to claim an estate which consisted chiefly of thirteen snakes the probate court naturally went into a huddle to decide what to do about it. Six widows alone would make a problem for any court, but that has easy compared with the question presented by the snakes.

To complicate matters three of the claimants are snake charmers. Thus the court cannot resort to the test used in the case of counter claims for the ownership of dogs. To set the snakes free and let them decide for themselves whom they would follow would be to give an unfair advantage to the professionals.

On the other hand the three amateurs could not be expected to show much concern if the court adopted Solomon's device and offered to cut up the snakes for distribution.

The court is plainly puzzled. Yet the State that invented wooden nutmegs and sold shoepeg oats should develop enough ingenuity to solve even the problem of the widows and the snakes.

"Old Squire"

Oakland Tribune

Many of the generation which used to receive as a regular and welcome visitor The Youth's Companion have noted with regret the passing of C. A. Stephens, creator of "Old Squire." For more than forty years Stephens was on the staff of the magazine. His stories were of the life and people of Maine, tales far removed from those of the bustling city.

"Old Squire" today would find the Maine scene much as it was in his day. The loneliness, however, is gone for the radio, the newspapers and the telephone have reached into those farm houses which were away from the world. Stephens, who told rare stories of simple and remote folk, lived a full and happy life and died at 86. Men now at middle age will recall reading his stories when they were boys.

TO A DOLLAR

In childhood's sometimes happy hour—
Long, long before this year of grace—
You were a source of pride and power,
A fortune in a silver case.
Before my playmates you were flaunted,
But spent in secrecy and stealth,
To buy the things I long had wanted
Before I had such boundless wealth.

Years after that you were a treasure;
You meant new marbles by the score,
Hot peanuts in abundant measure
And many boons I hungered for.
And now, though old, and worn, and saddened
As years and years have fled away,
I smile to think of how you gladdened
My infant heart on circus day.

Years later, when the curse of labor
To my distress appeared in view
I tilted the garden of a neighbor
And toiled all day for one of you.
For in those dim and distant ages
Which, looking back, they seem to be,
A dollar was sufficient wages
For any beardless boy like me.

But although you have grown no thinner
You're given waiters for a tip
For serving an inferior dinner,
Or paid out for a taxi trip.
You're handed calmly to the porter
Who shifts one's baggage or his trunk—
A task that once was worth a quarter—
Good Gracious, Dollar, how you've shrunk!

Uncommon Sense

BY JOHN BLAKE

WHAT IS PROSPERITY?

People who live in farming countries in regions frequented by summer people must grow rather weary of hearing complaints of hard times from city visitors who drive into town in expensive motor cars and inquire where the nearest bootlegger can be found.

To these country folk prosperity consists in having enough to eat and to send their children to school, and the ability to save enough money to pay off the mortgage on the farm a little at a time.

Far be it from me to deny comfort of living, or even luxury when it can be obtained without running into debt. But I cannot very deeply pity the man who has had to lay off his second chauffeur, and to cut his house staff down to two or three servants.

The men who made America were glad to have enough to eat and something left over for a lean year, and a house that would keep out the cold, and wood to keep the stoves going.

They got up in the morning before the sun, as most farming people do now, and worked till after dark.

Then they sat around the "sitting room" table and read the few books they had been able to buy.

It was people of that sort who appointed one day to give thanksgiving to the Creator for the few comforts they had obtained by the work of their hands.

I am stopping for a time in a little country town where it is impossible for most of the people to lay by more than a pittance every year.

They feel that their job is to educate their children, and in the meantime keep the wolf away.

Now and then when they have had fairly good luck they buy a phonograph or a radio set, either of which is considered such a miracle that the neighbors flock in to hear it.

But in talking with these people I hear no complaints. Hard work keeps their digestions in trim, and prolongs their lives.

Most of them find that cars are cheaper and more efficient than horses, and so they buy them—usually at second-hand.

And they get about ten times the fun out of Sunday excursions in them along the lovely countryside hereabout than the city people ever do out of far speedier and more expensive cars.

I inquired the other day if there was anybody in the poor-house, and was told that it contained only three elderly people, and that they had the use of the grocer's radio three nights a week. That grocer is a real philanthropist. I know there is misery and suffering in many cities, and in some country communities.

But there is less of it in the country, where people can get along with fewer comforts, and do not crave what they do not need.

I believe, of course, that any one who can afford luxury is entitled to it. But he has no excuse for whining when he cannot afford it, and as a rule the rural dweller keeps cheerful and contented. That is because he spends nothing to keep up appearances, which is a vice that the city man could profitably dispense with.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

A SHACK IN THE BACK YARD

It was the latter week of August when the shack was thrown up.

An epidemic of infantile paralysis was throwing its threat like a shadow across the minds of parents throughout the city.

I had two heavy obligations on my hands: (1) a book on the outlook for Western civilization in the light of the disruption that has lately fallen upon Western affairs, which was crying to be finished, and (2) a twelve-year-old son, a busy bundle of vibrant energy, whom I had to keep interested while I kept him incarcerated in the yard as a preventive measure while the epidemic was on.

In the earlier weeks of the summer, swimming and golf had absorbed his surplus energy, but now an outlet had to be manufactured. "A shack in the back yard," he cried, in happy inspiration, when I asked what he wanted to do.

With the first days of spring he had asked to build such a shack in the midst of the giant trees that cover the untended half of the yard at the rear of the house, but I had discouraged the project, first, because I did not relish the sight of an amateur-built shack on an otherwise well-planned place, and, second, because my study window opens up on the space where the shack would be built, and it is hard to salvage Western civilization with the sawings and hammerings of youthful carpenters in your ears.

But I had delivered the sentence that held him in the yard, and neither my aesthetic nor my literary scruples had a right to deny him the privilege of building the long-wanted shack.

Two weeks of incessant hammering have now lapsed into silence. The shack is finished!

It is hardly a Chartres or a Taj Mahal, but for two weeks a boy's face was flushed and his eyes alight with the joy of creation, and never a whimper at having to stay within the frontiers of a town yard from the threat of an epidemic.

But, now that the shack is finished, this eager creator proves a listless user.

He is off to new projects! He even suggested today that I take the shack as a summer study.

I am not impatient, for, after all, the only completely satisfying joy is the joy of creation!

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

TALKING TOO MUCH

"Something must be the matter with my little daughter. She talks all the time. The minute she is awake she begins and she never stops, not even while she is eating. Isn't there something I can do to stop this? I've tried about everything from spanking to sending her to bed but nothing seems to have any effect."

I don't believe that there is anything the matter with the child. Little children have to learn to talk. They need to practice words and phrases. They need to acquire a vocabulary. The only way they can do these essential things is the way they talk—talking as much and as often as they can.

Little children will pick up a word or a phrase even a syllable and repeat it endlessly. That is their way of practicing speech. They imitate their speech organs, develop them by use. This is a sign to teach rhymes. The more repetitive the are the better. The House That Jack Built is a very good story for little children to learn. All the Mother Goose rhymes are good. Lear's nonsense verses are fine. The more the language tickles their ears the more it will charm them into using their speech powers and increasing their power and control.

At this time language interest is at its height. Never again will it be so easy for the child to learn a word, a verse, a phrase. Never again will he find so much joy in putting words together, in telling a story. Never again will he love the sound of his voice as he does at four though he becomes a street orator of the most tireless kind. Take advantage of this period to teach language, native and foreign. It is a mistake to wait to the high-school age to teach foreign languages. Begin when the child is in full pursuit of his speech powers. The runabout children are those who are acquiring the use of their tongues. They will talk to themselves if they have no one else to talk to so it is best to let them have companions of their own age.

To talk well one must have a good audience and the right audience for a little child is always found within his own group. You cannot isolate a child from his own kind without loss to his growth. Grownup people can never wholly fill the place of a child companion. The intercourse must be close and the span between age and childhood too wide to be bridged. Children must live with children and learn of children.

They will pick up the wrong expressions now and then. That is to be expected. The grownup people use these expressions and children imitate the speech they hear. That is the way they learn. The wrong word, the cheap expression, will not cling to the child whose people use good language. The home background wins out. Correct the wrong expression by ignoring it, then if it holds on, privately caution. It is unwise to make a scene about wrong expressions as dramatists fix the ideas that produce them.

Once a child has mastered the art of speech he ceases to babble and begins to read. Start him early with the good English of Mother Goose, Stevenson, Milne, Lear, and the Fabians. If after that he talks too much change the scene and alter his thought by offering him pleasant occupation.

URUGUAY IN BREAK

On October 7, 1917, Uruguay officially broke relations with Germany by decree of the president.

All of the functionaries were ordered to withdraw from German territory.

The chamber of deputies voted in favor of the rupture by 74 to 23. The president of Uruguay previously (June 20) had issued an order announcing that "no American country which, in defense of its own right, should find itself in a state of war with nations of other continents, will be treated as a belligerent."

President Viera, in his message to Parliament, declared that the Uruguayan government had not received any direct offense from Germany, but that it was necessary to espouse the cause of the defenders of justice, democracy and small nationalities.

Uruguay, with other neutrals, had been a sufferer from Germany's U-boat warfare, and Uruguay's international rights had otherwise been disregarded.
